17 Die, 60 Hurt In B-29 Crash

Bomb-Laden Ship Explodes Near Air Base

Two Are Missing; Gen. Travis Killed

FAIRFIELD-SUISUN AIR BASE, Calif., Aug. 6 (AP)—Seventeen men were known dead, two were missing and 60 persons hurt as a giant bomb-laden B-29 crashed, burned and exploded here.

Had the bomber fallen 100 feet to the north it would have smashed into a trailer area where 200 service families slept.

Among the dead was the famed flier, Brig. Gen. Robert F. Travis, commander of the Fairfield-Suisun base and the Ninth Heavy Bomber Wing.

The flaming explosion of the 10 or 12 500-pound demolition bombs the plane carried shattered more than half of 50 automobiles and trailers parked about 150 feet from the crash, at 11:30 o'clock last night.

Blast Felt 30 Miles

The explosion was felt 30 miles away and the vast cloud of fire that billowed from 8,000 gallons of gasoline could be seen for 65 miles. Fairfield-Suisun air base is 35 miles northeast of San Francisco.

The known dead included 10 of the 20 men aboard the B-29. Two others aboard were missing. The other seven bodies recovered were believed to be those of air base fire fighters, caught in the crater explosion, which blasted a crater 20 yards across and six feet deep. Three of the dead were definitely identified as fire fighters.

The bomber had just left the 8,000-foot runway when the pilot told the control tower two of his four engines were running wild and he couldn't retract his landing gear. He tried to turn back to the field. But the heavy bomber crashed a little more than a mile from the west end of the runway.

Trailers Flattened

There was an interval—some say 10 minutes, some say 20—between the crash and the explosion. This enabled residents of the Air Force trailer camp to flee.

A wisp of fire churned into billowing clouds of flame. The great wing tanks burst. The flames torched higher.

Then the bombs let go.

Trailers were flattened, one witness said, "like a giant had stepped on them."

Seven fire-fighting trucks caught the fury of the explosion. They were rolled like cans and shattered.

Capt. John Thornton, 33, Billings, Mont, said "I was 75 to 100 yards from the plane. I was enveloped in fire, thrown back 20 or 30 feet and landed on my arm. x x x That's all I remember." His hands and arms were burned badly.

Lie Says Bold, Enlightened Statesmanship Is Needed To Prevent New World War

Report Circulated As Russia And Western Powers Gird For New Round In U. N. Battle

LAKE SUCCESS, Aug. 6 (AP) — Trygve Lie said today that nothing less than a bold and enlightened act of statesmanship will halt further deterioration toward another world war.

The Secretary-General made his statement in his fifth annual report to the 59-nation General Assembly. He said the 143-page document was written at a time "of serious danger to the peace of the world and to the continued existence of the organization."

The report was circulated as Russia and the Western Powers girded for a new round in their Security Council battle overt he Korean conflict. Lie reviewed the Korean problem at length. He also gave a full account of the Soviet effort to seat Red China, the Soviet boycott and his own efforts to find a solution to these and other cold war issues.

U. N. Council Meets Tuesday

The Security Council will resume debate Tuesday at 2 p.m. (EST) on Russia's demand that Red China and Communist North Korea be invited to take part in U. N. Korean peace discussions.

The council also has before it a Soviet demand for a cessation of hostilities in Korea and the withdrawal of all United States and other foreign troops.

The United States, on the other hand wants the council to make a new appeal to all countries — including Russia — to use their influence to halt the fighting or at least prevent it from spreading.

The General Assembly meets Sept. 19.

The Secretary-General made it clear that he still felt as he did before the start of the Korean fighting — that the best approach to a solution of outstanding problems would be a meeting of top-ranking officials of the big powers.

Urges U. N. Seat For China Reds

Lie also repeated his earlier suggestion that the China representation question should be settled by giving China's U. N. seat to the government that actually controls most of China. He proposed that the U. N. start an inquiry into this at once, despite the cool reception given the proposal by the Western Powers.

It was generally agreed that the acceptance of Lie's plan would result in the seating of Red China, which controls all the China mainland.

Shortly after the release of his report, Lie said in a radio broadcast that the Korean crisis had brought with it the most serious danger to peace since the U. N. was founded in 1945.

Speaking over NBC on the University of Chicago roundtable, Lie said:

"The job of the United Nations is to do all it can to prevent a third world war, by conciliation whenever possible, by force when necessary x x x."

Eight Pajama-Clad Men Escape From Mental Institution

CHATTAHOOCHEE, Fla., Aug. 6 (AP)—Eight white men, all considered dangerous, escaped in their pajamas early today from the building for the criminally insane at Florida State Hospital.

One was captured two hours after the 2:30 a. m. (EST) break, five fled in a station wagon on the hospital grounds and two escaped on foot.

Frank Palsgraff, acting hospital superintendent, said the men used a concrete slab from a bench in their day room to batter through a thin partition.

They then held three guards at bay while they unlocked the main entrance door with a homemade aluminum key.

West Germany's Rearming Held Vital To Defense

Allies Reluctant To Propose Move

FRANKFURT, Germany, Aug. 6 (AP) — Nearly all western military men and most officials here are agreed, on a "don't quote me basis," that Europe cannot be defended against Russia without Western Germany being rearmed — and quickly.

Already it may be too late to rearm the Germans.

To do it might provoke the Russians.

But the swift aggression in Korea convinced most of the few remaining doubters that Germany could only be defended with the aid of German manpower, and Germany must be defended or the rest of Europe would go down as well.

Yet, both the Western Allies and German officials are doing their best to avoid facing these conclusions publicly.

Rearmament Invites Problems

German political parties are even more reluctant to bring the subject into the open than Allied officials.

The largest party, the Christian Democrat, which heads the West German government coalition at Bonn, unreservedly rejected rearmament in a recent statement. It does not like to open itself to a charge from its largest opponent, the Social Democratic Party, of falling in with any plan for a "cannon fodder" army.

The occupation powers, during the war and at its close, committed themselves to German disarmament so that no new German aggression ever would be possible. To propose German rearmament invites political problems with some of the victims of German aggression who still fear German power.

Russians Build Up Army

Meanwhile, the Russians are busily building up their army of East Germans under the guise of a police force, equipping it with tanks, artillery and all instruments of war.

This army, reported to number 50,000 in May, is now estimated at 70,000. Military men believe that in a year it may total 250,000.

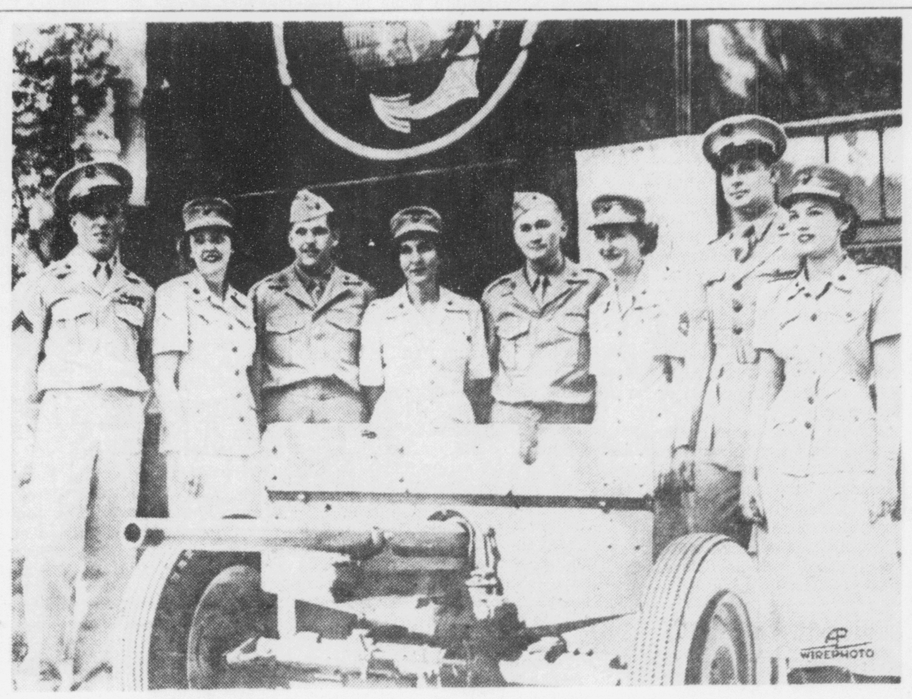

When it reaches that size it might be too big for the present western occupation forces to handle should the communists start an attack in the Korean style.

If powerfully supported by Soviet aircraft and troops it seemingly could sweep over Western Europe in almost no time.

19 Japs Die In Floods

Texas Senator Demands Speedy Pay-Price Curbs

Committees Push Final Agreements

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6 (AP) — Sen. Lyndon Johnson (D-Tex) tonight demanded speedy enactment of wage-price-manpower controls and a stiff excess profits tax to combat "our worst enemy at home" — inflation.

"Inflation can do what communism hopes to do," Johnson declared.

The Texan called for all-out economic preparedness as Congress made ready to tackle again the issue of just how far to go and how the job should be handled.

In the House, where efforts to work out a solution were fruitless last week, Democratic and Republican leaders joined in predicting a decision by Tuesday or Wednesday.

The House Banking Committee meets tomorrow morning to canvass the situation, and there were indications it might agree on a plan giving President Truman full discretion to involke wage-price-rationing controls if and when he saw fit.

There was a possibility, however, that the committee might decide to handle that phase of home front mobilization in a separate bill — after action on a partial controls program which Mr. Truman has said would be enough for now.

The Senate Banking Committee already has approved the general idea of giving the President a free hand to invoke wage-price curbs and rationing. It meets tomorrow to put in final shape a bill the Senate expects to start debating Wednesday.

That bill also includes the less sweeping controls Mr. Truman requested. Those deal with allocation of scarce industrial materials, priorities to channel them to essential jobs, credit curbs, and authority to take over privately owned plants. The bill also would authorize $2,000,000,000 in government loans and loan guarantees to spur defense production.

Boston Leads State Capitals In Population

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6 (AP) — Boston has the biggest population of any of the 48 state capitals; Carson City, Nev., the smallest.

The Census Bureau ranked them that way in a special report today on preliminary figures for state capitals gathered in the 1950 census.

The Massachusetts capital's population was 788,552.

Carson City was listed at 3,069.

The listing included Annapolis, Md., 15,013, in 43rd position, and Charleston, W. Va., 72,818, 29th.

Negroes Call Off Swimming Party Following Near-Riot

COLONIAL BEACH, Va., Aug. 6 (AP) — A negro group pressing for equal rights at this Potomac town's traditionally "white only" waterfront today called off a scheduled return to the scene of yesterday's near-riot.

The negroes agreed to postpone their second swimming party after an urgent plea from Mayor Norman F. Brewington, who warned:

"The people around here are all roused up. An ugly incident like yesterday's could happen again. I don't want any more trouble and I hope you will cooperate."

Another anti-negro demonstration was averted—for a day at least. But Colonial Beach's inter-racial problem was far from resolved.

After he had advised his clients to heed Mayor Brewington's words, Richmond Attorney Martin A. Martin declared:

"We will be back — maybe tomorrow, maybe the next day, surely within a week. We will swim at Colonial Beach."

Mayor Brewington agreed with his town council that nothing had been solved.

"There are two alternatives," he went on. "We could provide a special place for the negroes to swim, or we must expect actual bloodshed if they persist in using the public beach.

"Sentiment in the town and in the council is completely against the first alternative. So there you have it."

In yesterday's explosive outbreak, one white youth was stabbed, a white newspaperman was beaten up, a negro was arrested, several press cameras were smashed and automobiles were blocked and stoned.

Riverman Shoots Niagara's Rapids

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Aug. 6 (AP)—Major Lloyd Hill took a three-hour battering with two brief intermissions today as he shot the rapids below Niagara Falls in a stainless steel barrel.

At the end of the five-mile trip, Hill emerged smiling but said he was "pretty badly bruised up."

The 32-year-old Canadian riverman—Major is his given name — says he intends to go over the falls in a barrel Sept. 10.

The barrel, dented when it was sent empty over the falls last month, was battered so much today that Hill said he would use another one for the trip over the cataract.

M'Carthy Lashes Out At Tydings

MILWAUKEE, Aug. 6 (AP) — Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) renewed his communists-in-government charges today and called Sen. Tydings (D-Md) the Truman administration's "whimpering lap dog."

McCarthy also said he intends to continue a "bare-knuckle" fight to expose communists "as long as I remain in the Senate."

Tydings headed the Senate Foreign Relations Subcommittee which investigated McCarthy's contentions that the State Department harbors communists and red sympathizers.

The Democratic majority of the subcommittee labelled the McCarthy charges "a fraud and a hoax."

Sen. Lodge (R-Mass) issued a minority document calling the investigation superficial and inconclusive. Sen. Hickenlooper (Iowa), the other Republican member, is preparing a separate report. He already has said he is in general accord with Lodge's views.

In a speech to the Wisconsin Retail Food Dealers Association, McCarthy accused Tydings and Sen. McMahon (D-Conn), who also was on the investigating committee, of doing "a dishonest job," and of being "interested in protecting communists for political reasons."

Thieves Steal $60,000 In Gems From Villa

NICE, France, Aug. 6 (AP)—Thieves stole 20,000,000 francs (about $60,000) worth of jewels last night from the Riviera villa of an American businessman while his international society guests were playing bridge.

Police today questioned both guests and servants at Villa Le Roc in an attempt to solve the case. Hosts at the party were Norman Winston of New York, Plastics Manufacturer, and Mrs. Winston, owners of the villa.

Lifeguards End Strike

WILDWOOD, N. J., Aug. 6. (AP)—Lifeguards along a two-mile stretch of Southern New Jersey beach ended their 24-hour strike today as a $1,500 check was posted to guarantee their pay boost demands.

The check was put up by a local theater operator. He said he would forfeit the $1,500 to the lifeguards if they did not get their pay increases by next Wednesday.

Vinson Expects Military To Ask For More Funds

Marines May Seek January Allotment

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6 (AP) — Chairman Vinson (D-Ga.) of the House Armed Services Committee, said today he expects the armed forces to ask for "considerably" more money in January, including $500,000,000 for another Marine expansion.

The military budget has soared in two weeks from $14,679,000,000 to $26,722,000,000.

The extra half billion dollars for the Marines would enable the corps to increase its strength to 174,000, have two fully equipped combat divisions and an air arm of 18 squadrons, Vinson said.

74,200 Now In Marines

Latest recruiting figures of June 30 gave the Marines a strength of 74,200 and they now have 16 air squadrons.

On July 26 the Navy told the committee it planned to allow about $270,000,000 from its share of President Truman's recent $10,487,000,000 emergency military request to stepping up Marine strength quickly to 128,000.

Vinson said that allotment would enable the Marines to have one and a half divisions ready for combat with tanks and guns.

Of the $500,000,000 expected to be sought in January, $100,000,000 would go toward equipping the two additional air squadrons with planes.

Military Budget Soars

The government operations budget for the fiscal year ending next June 3, still pending in Congress, contains for the armed services $13,294,000,000 in cash and $1,385,000,000 in contract authority, a total of $14,679,000,000.

On July 24, Mr. Truman sent up his first emergency supplementary increase for $10,487,000,000 and then last Friday he asked for an additional $1,556,000,000 — a total so far of $26,722,000,000 for the military.

NEW YORK, Aug. 6 (AP)—Fear of war has caused European-bound air travel to drop drastically the past 10 days, LaGuardia airport officials said today.

Marines Attack On Guadalcanal Anniversary Day

WITH THE FIRST MARINE BRIGADE AT THE KOREAN FRONT, Aug. 7 (Monday) (INS)—Veteran Marines who went into action eight years ago today at Guadalcanal spearheaded the greatest United Nations attack of the Korean war this morning.

The men went into action on the Guadalcanal anniversary day along with the reinforced U. S. 25th Division on a sector east of Chinju on the southern front.

Once more the leathernecks find themselves in the firing lines against a fanatical enemy. They are equipped with heavy tanks, super-bazookas, flamethrowers, and the latest available weapons that the United States could rush to the distant front.

Senators Agree War Reaction To Decide Elections

Domestic Issues May Be Sidelined

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6 (AP) — Senators in both parties agreed today that the November congressional elections are likely to be decided almost wholly by public reaction to the Korean war and its multiplying problems at home.

Without exception, six senators who are running for reelection said they are going to shelve the domestic issues on which the campaign previously had been pitched and talk almost exclusively about the battle against communism.

For Democrats, this means pigeonholing for a while at least President Truman's "Fair Deal" in its various phases.

Republicans, on the other hand, aren't counting on getting as much attention with such issues as socialism, red ink spending and promises of tax reductions.

Attacks Forming

Many Republicans apparently plan to blame the administration for what they call a lack of military preparedness and for what they say is the failure of administration policies to prevent open warfare.

Among Democrats an attack is forming on what they label the 'isolationist" record of Republicans generally, contending that GOP members fought many of the proposals to strengthen anti-communist allies.

No candidate seems to be entirely sure yet what the public reaction to the Korean affair is going to be by November.

Sen. McMahon (D-Conn), who is trying for reelection, told a reporter he thinks the public is passing through a period now of "political numbness."

Sees Campaign Affected

"The war hasn't affected the campaign yet, but it will," he observed.

McMahon, as head of the Senate-House Atomic Committee, is banking heavily on discussion of atomic preparedness. He said he thinks the developments have washed out what he called "McCarthyism" — communists-in-government charges — as an issue.

Sen. Taft (R-Ohio), another candidate, said the war has taken all of the interest out of the domestic issues.

"In a way," he said, "that may be a handicap for a while but I believe it's going to be an asset in the end."

Clam Thief Sought

NEW YORK, N. J., Aug. 6 (AP)—Police are looking today for a burglar with a strong yen for sea food.

He broke into a fish store here overnight and made off with 400 clams.

French-German Barriers Burned By Unity Marchers

WIESSEMBOURG, France, Aug. 6 (AP) — A group of 300 college students of various nationalities attacked the frontier barriers on both sides of the French-German border here today in a demonstration for European federation.

In a precisely timed operation two groups of about 150 students each converged on the border posts, broke the barriers from their sockets and ceremoniously burned them in a field near the customs station on the German side.

The students were armed with hatchets, metal saws, bundles of kindling, and cans of gasoline. As the flames from the barriers crackkindling, and cans of gasoline. As the European movement was hoisted above the blaze. This is an organization for European unity.

Prof. Michel Mouskhely of the University of Strasbourg, one of the operation's chief planners, declared it was the first time in history that Europeans had marched to their frontiers not to fight but to abolish the barriers.

The demonstration was designed to impress delegates to the Council of Europe, which is meeting in Strasbourg, about 35 miles south of

Wedge Driven Into Red Lines On South Front

Americans Slowed By Counterattack

TOKYO, Monday, Aug. 7 (AP) —Gen. MacArthur's headquarters said today an American drive on the south coast of Korea today is "progressing on schedule."

TOKYO, MONDAY, Aug. 7. (AP)—U. S. Marines and Army forces today launched the biggest American attack of the Korean war. This limited offensive action on the critical southern front immediately ran into a communist counterattack.

The Americans—some 6,000 men—began their attack at 6:30 a. m., (3:30 p. m., E.S.T., Sunday) near the village of Kogan about 35 miles west of the vital supply port of Pusan.

Army and Marine artillery blasted red positions for 20 minutes before the push-off, then Mustang and jet fighters raked the reds as the Americans moved forward.

Associated Press Correspondent Don Whitehead, with the attackers, said the force was made up of Marine elements, the Army's Fifth Regimental Comba,t Team and the 35th Regiment of the Army's 25th Division.

Push Aimed At Chinju

The attack was pointed at communist-held Chinju, 55 miles west of Pusan. Reports from the front said the thrust was moving toward the village of Pansong about 12 miles east of Chinju.

It was the first offensive action for U. S. Marines in Korea.

They were driving into a front where the reds have reportedly assembled four divisions for a push toward Pusan, key American supply port. Pusan is 55 miles east of Chinju.

Eighth Army headquarters said the "primary threat" of the communists was considered further north on the left flank of the American 24th Infantry Division.

In a different action, AP Correspondent Leif Erickson reported from Eighth Army headquarters, attacking communist troops drove the Second Battalion of the 35th Regimental Combat Team from its position Sunday. But a counterattack by elements of the First and Second Battalions regained the ground.

The reds made other river crossings of the Naktong line and forced one regiment of the 24th Division to withdraw, but a counterattack "contained" the enemy, the Eighth Army said.

Pockets Of Reds Cleaned Out

In the south, as a prelude to Monday's action, Marine artillery roared into action Sunday in the Chinju area. The actual front is less than 35 miles from Pusan.

On the western front, north of the newly-flaming battleground, U. S. 24th Infantry Division troops began cleaning out two pockets of reds who had crossed the Naktong river and survived an all-day battle Sunday.

Associated Press Correspondent O. H. P. King with the 24th said each pocket contained about 100 men—all that remained of about 800 who crossed the river Saturday night and Sunday morning. They had been pounded by U. S. artillery and fighter aircraft.

A large concentration of communist troops was spotted west of the Naktong in this area, King reported. Several tanks were seen with the red force on the western side of the river.

Gen. MacArthur's war summary early Monday said the communists continued their aggressive attacks by small units while attempting to infiltrate the entire 140-mile-long box-shaped defense perimeter.

Headquarters said the North Koreans probed on the south, attempted to cut vital communication lines along the central western front, and threw "heavy pressure" on South Korean troops along the northern rim.

Efforts To Reach C-54 Wreckage Abandoned

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, Aug. 6 (AP) — Efforts to reach wreckage of a C-54 transport high on a Southeastern Alaska peak were abandoned today. The six men aboard the crashed plane were listed by the Air Force as presumed dead.

Maj. Gen. Frank A. Armstrong, Jr., head of the Alaskan Air Command, said he called off further rescue attempts because of "extremely dangerous avalanche conditions at the scene, the impossibility of survivors and inaccessibility of the crashed aircraft."

The C-54, based here with the 54th Troop Carrier Squadron, hit a mountain 90 miles west of Juneau on a routine northbound cargo flight

17 Die, 60 Hurt In B-29 Crash

Bomb-Laden Ship Explodes Near Air Base

Two Are Missing; Gen. Travis Killed

FAIRFIELD-SUISUN AIR BASE, Calif., Aug. 6 (AP)—Seventeen men were known dead, two were missing and 60 persons hurt as a giant bomb-laden B-29 crashed, burned and exploded here.

Had the bomber fallen 100 feet to the north it would have smashed into a trailer area where 200 service families slept.

Among the dead was the famed flier, Brig. Gen. Robert F. Travis, commander of the Fairfield-Suisun base and the Ninth Heavy Bomber Wing.

The flaming explosion of the 10 or 12 500-pound demolition bombs the plane carried shattered more than half of 50 automobiles and trailers parked about 150 feet from the crash, at 11:30 o'clock last night.

Blast Felt 30 Miles

The explosion was felt 30 miles away and the vast cloud of fire that billowed from 8,000 gallons of gasoline could be seen for 65 miles. Fairfield-Suisun air base is 35 miles northeast of San Francisco.

The known dead included 10 of the 20 men aboard the B-29. Two others aboard were missing. The other seven bodies recovered were believed to be those of air base fire fighters, caught in the explosion, which blasted a crater 20 yards across and six feet deep. Three of the dead were definitely identified as fire fighters.

The bomber had just left the 8,000-foot runway when the pilot told the control tower two of his four engines were running wild and he couldn't retract his landing gear. He tried to turn back to the field. But the heavy bomber crashed a little more than a mile from the west end of the runway.

Trailers Flattened

There was an interval—some say 10 minutes, some say 20—between the crash and the explosion. This enabled residents of the Air Force trailer camp to flee.

A wisp of fire churned into billowing clouds of flame. The great wing tanks burst. The flames torched higher.

Already it may be too late to rearm the Germans.

To do it might provoke the Russians.

But the swift aggression in Korea convinced most of the few remaining doubters that Germany could only be defended with the aid of German manpower, and Germany must be defended or the rest of Europe would go down as well.

Yet, both the Western Allies and German officials are doing their best to avoid facing these conclusions publicly.

Rearmament Invites Problems

German political parties are even more reluctant to bring the subject into the open than Allied officials.

The largest party, the Christian Democrat, which heads the West German government coalition at Bonn, unreservedly rejected rearmament in a recent statement. It does not like to open itself to a charge from its largest opponent, the Social Democratic Party, of falling in with any plan for a "cannon fodder" army.

The occupation powers, during the war and at its close, committed themselves to German disarmament so that no new German aggression ever would be possible. To propose German rearmament invites political problems with some of the victims of German aggression who still fear German power.

Russians Build Up Army

Meanwhile, the Russians are busily building up their army of East Germans under the guise of a police force, equipping it with tanks, artillery and all instruments of war.

This army, reported to number 50,000 in May, is now estimated at 70,000. Military men believe that in a year it may total 250,000.

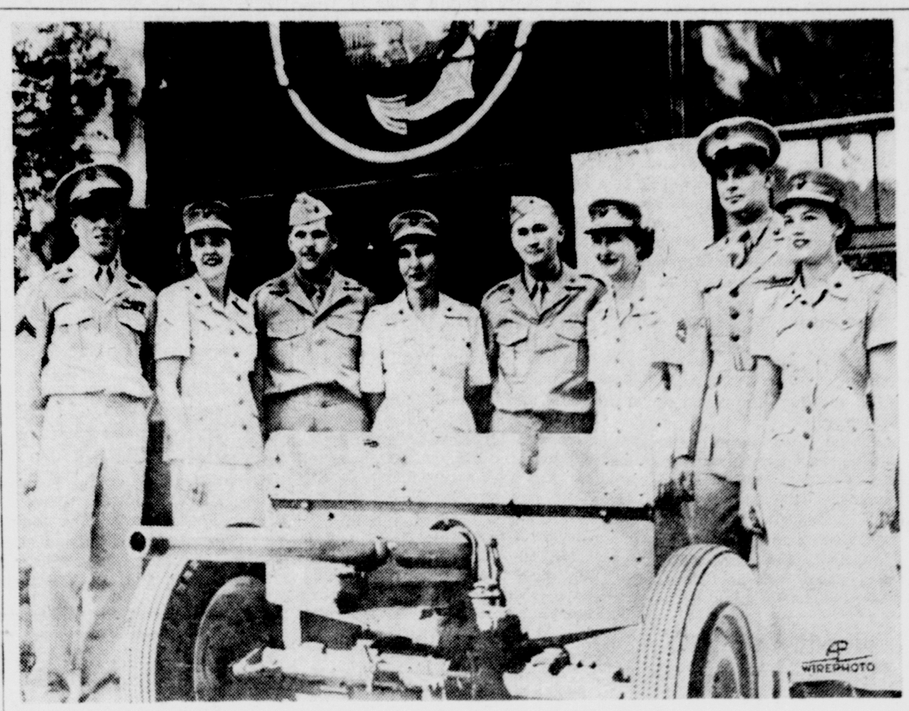

When it reaches that size it might be too big for the present western occupation forces to handle should the communists start an attack in the Korean style.

If powerfully supported by Soviet aircraft and troops it seemingly could sweep over Western Europe in almost no time.

Texas Senator Demands Speedy Pay-Price Curbs

Committees Push Final Agreements

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6 (AP) — Sen. Lyndon Johnson (D-Tex) tonight demanded speedy enactment of wage-price-manpower controls and a stiff excess profits tax to combat "our worst enemy at home" — inflation.

"Inflation can do what communism hopes to do," Johnson declared.

The Texan called for all-out economic preparedness as Congress made ready to tackle again the issue of just how far to go and how the job should be handled.

In the House, where efforts to work out a solution were fruitless last week, Democratic and Republican leaders joined in predicting a decision by Tuesday or Wednesday.

The House Banking Committee meets tomorrow morning to canvass the situation, and there were indications it might agree on a plan giving President Truman full discretion to involke wage-price-rationing controls if and when he saw fit.

There was a possibility, however, that the committee might decide to handle that phase of home front mobilization in a separate bill — after action on a partial controls program which Mr. Truman has said would be enough for now.

The Senate Banking Committee already has approved the general idea of giving the President a free hand to invoke wage-price curbs and rationing. It meets tomorrow to put in final shape a bill the Senate expects to start debating Wednesday.

That bill also includes the less sweeping controls Mr. Truman requested. Those deal with allocation of scarce industrial materials, priorities to channel them to essential jobs, credit curbs, and authority to take over privately owned plants. The bill also would authorize $2,000,000,000 in government loans and loan guarantees to spur defense production.

Boston Leads State Capitals In Population

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6 (AP) — Boston has the biggest population of any of the 48 state capitals; Carson City, Nev., the smallest.

The Census Bureau ranked them that way in a special report today on preliminary figures for state capitals gathered in the 1950 census.

The Massachusetts capital's population was 788,552.

Carson City was listed at 3,069.

The listing included Annapolis, Md., 15,013, in 43rd position, and Charleston, W. Va., 72,818, 29th.

Negroes Call Off Swimming Party Following Near-Riot

COLONIAL BEACH, Va., Aug. 6 (AP) — A negro group pressing for equal rights at this Potomac town's traditionally "white only" waterfront today called off a scheduled return to the scene of yesterday's near-riot.

The negroes agreed to postpone their second swimming party after an urgent plea from Mayor Norman F. Brewington, who warned:

"The people around here are all roused up. An ugly incident like yesterday's could happen again. I don't want any more trouble and I hope you will cooperate."

Another anti-negro demonstration was averted—for a day at least. But Colonial Beach's inter-racial problem was far from resolved.

After he had advised his clients to heed Mayor Brewington's words, Richmond Attorney Martin A. Martin declared:

"We will be back — maybe tomorrow, maybe the next day, surely within a week. We will swim at Colonial Beach."

Mayor Brewington agreed with his town council that nothing had been solved.

"There are two alternatives," he went on. "We could provide a special place for the negroes to swim, or we must expect actual bloodshed if they persist in using the public beach.

"Sentiment in the town and in the council is completely against the first alternative. So there you have it."

In yesterday's explosive outbreak, one white youth was stabbed, a white newspaperman was beaten up, a negro was arrested, several press cameras were smashed and automobiles were blocked and stoned.

Riverman Shoots Niagara's Rapids

NIAGARA FALLS, Ont., Aug. 6 (AP)—Major Lloyd Hill took a three-hour battering with two brief intermissions today as he shot the rapids below Niagara Falls in a stainless steel barrel.

At the end of the five-mile trip, Hill emerged smiling but said he was "pretty badly bruised up."

The 32-year-old Canadian riverman—Major is his given name — says he intends to go over the falls in a barrel Sept. 10.

The barrel, dented when it was sent empty over the falls last month, was battered so much today that Hill said he would use another one for the trip over the cataract.

M'Carthy Lashes Out At Tydings

MILWAUKEE, Aug. 6 (AP) — Sen. McCarthy (R-Wis) renewed his communists-in-government charges today and called Sen. Tydings (D-Md) the Truman administration's "whimpering lap dog."

McCarthy also said he intends to continue a "bare-knuckle" fight to expose communists "as long as I remain in the Senate."

Tydings headed the Senate Foreign Relations Subcommittee which investigated McCarthy's contentions that the State Department harbors communists and red sympathizers.

The Democratic majority of the subcommittee labelled the McCarthy charges "a fraud and a hoax."

Sen. Lodge (R-Mass) issued a minority document calling the investigation superficial and inconclusive. Sen. Hickenlooper (Iowa), the other Republican member, is preparing a separate report. He already has said he is in general accord with Lodge's views.

In a speech to the Wisconsin Retail Food Dealers Association, McCarthy accused Tydings and Sen. McMahon (D-Conn), who also was on the investigating committee, of doing "a dishonest job," and of being "interested in protecting communists for political reasons."

NICE, France, Aug. 6 (AP)—Thieves stole 20,000,000 francs (about $60,000) worth of jewels last night from the Riviera villa of an American businessman while his international society guests were playing bridge.

Police today questioned both guests and servants at Villa Le Roc in an attempt to solve the case. Hosts at the party were Norman Winston of New York, Plastics Manufacturer, and Mrs. Winston, owners of the villa.

Lifeguards End Strike

WILDWOOD, N. J., Aug. 6. (AP)—Lifeguards along a two-mile stretch of Southern New Jersey beach ended their 24-hour strike today as a $1,500 check was posted to guarantee their pay boost demands.

The check was put up by a local theater operator. He said he would forfeit the $1,500 to the lifeguards if they did not get their pay increases by next Wednesday.

Vinson Expects Military To Ask For More Funds

Marines May Seek January Allotment

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6 (AP) — Chairman Vinson (D-Ga.) of the House Armed Services Committee, said today he expects the armed forces to ask for "considerably" more money in January, including $500,000,000 for another Marine expansion.

The military budget has soared in two weeks from $14,679,000,000 to $26,722,000,000.

The extra half billion dollars for the Marines would enable the corps to increase its strength to 174,000, have two fully equipped combat divisions and an air arm of 18 squadrons, Vinson said.

74,200 Now In Marines

Latest recruiting figures of June 30 gave the Marines a strength of 74,200 and they now have 16 air squadrons.

On July 26 the Navy told the committee it planned to allow about $270,000,000 from its share of President Truman's recent $10,487,000,000 emergency military request to stepping up Marine strength quickly to 128,000.

Vinson said that allotment would enable the Marines to have one and a half divisions ready for combat with tanks and guns.

Of the $500,000,000 expected to be sought in January, $100,000,000 would go toward equipping the two additional air squadrons with planes.

Military Budget Soars

The government operations budget for the fiscal year ending next June 3, still pending in Congress, contains for the armed services $13,294,000,000 in cash and $1,385,000,000 in contract authority, a total of $14,679,000,000.

On July 24, Mr. Truman sent up his first emergency supplementary increase for $10,487,000,000 and then last Friday he asked for an additional $1,556,000,000 — a total so far of $26,722,000,000 for the military.

Marines Attack On Guadalcanal Anniversary Day

WITH THE FIRST MARINE BRIGADE AT THE KOREAN FRONT, Aug. 7 (Monday) (INS)—Veteran Marines who went into action eight years ago today at Guadalcanal spearheaded the greatest United Nations attack of the Korean war this morning.

The men went into action on the Guadalcanal anniversary day along with the reinforced U. S. 25th Division on a sector east of Chinju on the southern front.

Once more the leathernecks find themselves in the firing lines against a fanatical enemy. They are equipped with heavy tanks, super-bazookas, flamethrowers, and the latest available weapons that the United States could rush to the distant front.

Senators Agree War Reaction To Decide Elections

Domestic Issues May Be Sidelined

WASHINGTON, Aug. 6 (AP) — Senators in both parties agreed today that the November congressional elections are likely to be decided almost wholly by public reaction to the Korean war and its multiplying problems at home.

Without exception, six senators who are running for reelection said they are going to shelve the domestic issues on which the campaign previously had been pitched and talk almost exclusively about the battle against communism.

For Democrats, this means pigeonholing for a while at least President Truman's "Fair Deal" in its various phases.

Republicans, on the other hand, aren't counting on getting as much attention with such issues as socialism, red ink spending and promises of tax reductions.

Attacks Forming

Many Republicans apparently plan to blame the administration for what they call a lack of military preparedness and for what they say is the failure of administration policies to prevent open warfare.

Among Democrats an attack is forming on what they label the 'isolationist" record of Republicans generally, contending that GOP members fought many of the proposals to strengthen anti-communist allies.

No candidate seems to be entirely sure yet what the public reaction to the Korean affair is going to be by November.

Sen. McMahon (D-Conn), who is trying for reelection, told a reporter he thinks the public is passing through a period now of "political numbness."

Sees Campaign Affected

"The war hasn't affected the campaign yet, but it will," he observed.

McMahon, as head of the Senate-House Atomic Committee, is banking heavily on discussion of atomic preparedness. He said he thinks the developments have washed out what he called "McCarthyism" — communists-in-government charges — as an issue.

Sen. Taft (R-Ohio), another candidate, said the war has taken all of the interest out of the domestic issues.

"In a way," he said, "that may be a handicap for a while but I believe it's going to be an asset in the end."

Wedge Driven Into Red Lines On South Front

Americans Slowed By Counterattack

TOKYO, Monday, Aug. 7 (AP) —Gen. MacArthur's headquarters said today an American drive on the south coast of Korea today is "progressing on schedule."

TOKYO, MONDAY, Aug. 7. (AP)—U. S. Marines and Army forces today launched the biggest American attack of the Korean war. This limited offensive action on the critical southern front immediately ran into a communist counterattack.

The Americans—some 6,000 men—began their attack at 6:30 a. m., (3:30 p. m., E.S.T., Sunday) near the village of Kogan about 35 miles west of the vital supply port of Pusan.

Army and Marine artillery blasted red positions for 20 minutes before the push-off, then Mustang and jet fighters raked the reds as the Americans moved forward.

Associated Press Correspondent Don Whitehead, with the attackers, said the force was made up of Marine elements, the Army's Fifth Regimental Combat Team and the 35th Regiment of the Army's 25th Division.

Push Aimed At Chinju

The attack was pointed at communist-held Chinju, 55 miles west of Pusan. Reports from the front said the thrust was moving toward the village of Pansong about 12 miles east of Chinju.

It was the first offensive action for U. S. Marines in Korea.

They were driving into a front where the reds have reportedly assembled four divisions for a push toward Pusan, key American supply port. Pusan is 55 miles east of Chinju.

Eighth Army headquarters said the "primary threat" of the communists was considered further north on the left flank of the American 24th Infantry Division.

In a different action, AP Correspondent Leif Erickson reported from Eighth Army headquarters, attacking communist troops drove the Second Battalion of the 35th Regimental Combat Team from its position Sunday. But a counterattack by elements of the First and Second Battalions regained the ground.

The reds made other river crossings of the Naktong line and forced one regiment of the 24th Division to withdraw, but a counterattack "contained" the enemy, the Eighth Army said.

Pockets Of Reds Cleaned Out

In the south, as a prelude to Monday's action, Marine artillery roared into action Sunday in the Chinju area. The actual front is less than 35 miles from Pusan.

On the western front, north of the newly-flaming battleground, U. S. 24th Infantry Division troops began cleaning out two pockets of reds who had crossed the Naktong river and survived an all-day battle Sunday.

Associated Press Correspondent O. H. P. King with the 24th said each pocket contained about 100 men—all that remained of about 800 who crossed the river Saturday night and Sunday morning. They had been pounded by U. S. artillery and fighter aircraft.

A large concentration of communist troops was spotted west of the Naktong in this area, King reported. Several tanks were seen with the red force on the western side of the river.

Gen. MacArthur's war summary early Monday said the communists continued their aggressive attacks by small units while attempting to infiltrate the entire 140-mile-long box-shaped defense perimeter.

Headquarters said the North Koreans probed on the south, attempted to cut vital communication lines along the central western front, and threw "heavy pressure" on South Korean troops along the northern rim.

Efforts To Reach C-54 Wreckage Abandoned

ANCHORAGE, Alaska, Aug. 6 (AP) — Efforts to reach wreckage of a C-54 transport high on a Southeastern Alaska peak were abandoned today. The six men aboard the crashed plane were listed by the Air Force as presumed dead.

Maj. Gen. Frank A. Armstrong, Jr., head of the Alaskan Air Command, said he called off further rescue attempts because of "extremely dangerous avalanche conditions at the scene, the impossibility of survivors and inaccessibility of the crashed aircraft."

The C-54, based here with the 54th Troop Carrier Squadron, hit a mountain 90 miles west of Juneau on a routine northbound cargo flight

French-German Barriers Burned By Unity Marchers

WIESSEMBOURG, France, Aug. 6 (AP) — A group of 300 college students of various nationalities attacked the frontier barriers on both sides of the French-German border here today in a demonstration for European federation.

In a precisely timed operation two groups of about 150 students each converged on the border posts, broke the barriers from their sockets and ceremoniously burned them in a field near the customs station on the German side.

The students were armed with hatchets, metal saws, bundles of kindling, and cans of gasoline. As the flames from the barriers crackkindling, and cans of gasoline. As the European movement was hoisted above the blaze. This is an organization for European unity.

Prof. Michel Mouskhely of the University of Strasbourg, one of the operation's chief planners, declared it was the first time in history that Europeans had marched to their frontiers not to fight but to abolish the barriers.

The demonstration was designed to impress delegates to the Council of Europe, which is meeting in Strasbourg, about 35 miles south of pitching horseshoes — by Billy Rose

The Saddest Story Ever Told

A COUPLE OF weekends ago, the missus and I were driving up to the country in our '41 gas buggy when it stalled on a hill outside of Tarrytown and the radiator began to boil up like a miniature Bikini.

"Don't you think it's time we got a new car," asked Eleanor, "or should we wait until the axles fall off?"

Billy Rose

The following Monday, primped, preened and pomaded, I walked into the Rolls Royce agency.

Yes, you read it right, —the Rolls Royce agency! And before you throw that soapbox at me, let me explain.

Ever since I was knee-high to the Allen street gutter, I've yenned, above all else, to own one of these regal runabouts. Somehow, for reasons best left to psychiatrists, I've never been able to pass one without picturing myself in its lush, plush confines, daintily holding the speaking tube with lifted pinky and giving the hoi polloi the Marie Antoinette treatment. "Since I have to buy a car," I said to myself, "it might as well be the luxurious lizzie I've always dreamed about, even if it means hocking a couple of insurance policies."

The salesman, a natty little man whose accent you could cut with a crumpet, let me inspect one of the British beauties.

"Would you like to see how it runs?" he said. "I'll have one of our men drive you."

As I climbed in, I could feel my blood blueing up.

"We'll go down Broadway," said the chauffeur, "and you can see how it performs in traffic."

A shudder ran through me. There is a red light on 51st Street, and I knew that if this bejabbers buggy stopped in front of Lindy's the songwriters and vaudeville agents were a cinch to come running out and pelt me with pastrami sandwiches.

"They're digging up the street on Times Square," I said.

"How about the East River Drive?" said the chauffeur. "We can cut across Delancy Street and come up the West Side Highway."

My shudder turned into a quake. Somewhere on the East Side I figured to be spotted by an old pool room pal, and I envisioned the words, "You stink, Jack," being chalked on the elegant fenders. Even a rock through the windshield was a distinct possibility.

"Ride around Central Park," I said. "It's nice this time of the year."

As I settled back into the form-fitting upholstery, I began to do some hard thinking, and the more I thought about it the more I realized that if I bought me a Rolls Royce there was literally no place I could go with it in this town. If Eleanor and I got out of it in front of a theatre on opening, the mob we know would split their sides laughing, and the columns next day would be asking whether Lord and Lady Rose were finding it hard to buy petrol instead of gas.

The only thing on the credit side was that if I owned a Rolls I'd be sure to get plenty of exercise—I'd never have the courage to park it less than ten blocks from my usual hangouts.

"It's too much automobile for me." I said to the salesman when we pulled in. "Besides, I just remembered—I get car-sick."

An hour later I had made a down payment on one of the standard Detroit jobs, and I guess the moral of the story is that a hepcat may look at a king, but he'd better not try to ride around like one.

Republican Club Plans Reopening

The Young Men's Republican Club, 125 Frederick Street, will reopen Wednesday at 1:30 p. m.

The interior of the building was gutted by a fire about three weeks ago. The club has been redecorated, with the woodwork painted green and the walls and drapes being wine colored.

Raymond L. Messmer, Sr., president of the club, supervised the decorating job. New fixtures, he said, have been installed and refreshments will be served at the reopening.

Messmer said the club's record book was destroyed in the fire and asks that members present their cards at the door so that their records can be brought up to date.

pitching horseshoes — by Billy Rose

The Saddest Story Ever Told

A COUPLE OF weekends ago, the missus and I were driving up to the country in our '41 gas buggy when it stalled on a hill outside of Tarrytown and the radiator began to boil up like a miniature Bikini.

"Don't you think it's time we got a new car," asked Eleanor, "or should we wait until the axles fall off?"

Billy Rose

The following Monday, primped, preened and pomaded, I walked into the Rolls Royce agency.

Yes, you read it right, —the Rolls Royce agency! And before you throw that soapbox at me, let me explain.

Ever since I was knee-high to the Allen street gutter, I've yenned, above all else, to own one of these regal runabouts. Somehow, for reasons best left to psychiatrists, I've never been able to pass one without picturing myself in its lush, plush confines, daintily holding the speaking tube with lifted pinky and giving the hoi polloi the Marie Antoinette treatment. "Since I have to buy a car," I said to myself, "it might as well be the luxurious lizzie I've always dreamed about, even if it means hocking a couple of insurance policies."

The salesman, a natty little man whose accent you could cut with a crumpet, let me inspect one of the British beauties.

"Would you like to see how it runs?" he said. "I'll have one of our men drive you."

As I climbed in, I could feel my blood blueing up.

"We'll go down Broadway," said the chauffeur, "and you can see how it performs in traffic."

A shudder ran through me. There is a red light on 51st Street, and I knew that if this bejabbers buggy stopped in front of Lindy's the songwriters and vaudeville agents were a cinch to come running out and pelt me with pastrami sandwiches.

"They're digging up the street on Times Square," I said.

"How about the East River Drive?" said the chauffeur. "We can cut across Delancy Street and come up the West Side Highway."

My shudder turned into a quake. Somewhere on the East Side I figured to be spotted by an old pool room pal, and I envisioned the words, "You stink, Jack," being chalked on the elegant fenders. Even a rock through the windshield was a distinct possibility.

"Ride around Central Park," I said. "It's nice this time of the year."

As I settled back into the form-fitting upholstery, I began to do some hard thinking, and the more I thought about it the more I realized that if I bought me a Rolls Royce there was literally no place I could go with it in this town. If Eleanor and I got out of it in front of a theatre on opening, the mob we know would split their sides laughing, and the columns next day would be asking whether Lord and Lady Rose were finding it hard to buy petrol instead of gas.

The only thing on the credit side was that if I owned a Rolls I'd be sure to get plenty of exercise—I'd never have the courage to park it less than ten blocks from my usual hangouts.

"It's too much automobile for me." I said to the salesman when we pulled in. "Besides, I just remembered—I get car-sick."

An hour later I had made a down payment on one of the standard Detroit jobs, and I guess the moral of the story is that a hepcat may look at a king, but he'd better not try to ride around like one.

Bakery Workers Granted Hourly Wage Increase

A seven and one-half cent hourly wage increase has been granted to employes of the county's four largest bakeries.

C. W. Robinette, business manager of Bakery Workers Local No. 246, reported that the offer was accepted by the 150 members of the union at a meeting Saturday in the Allegany Trades County Hall.

The agreement was reached with the Community Bakery, Ort Brothers Bakery, and Schmidt's Bakery, all of this city, and McIntyre's Bakery, Westernport.

The increase, covering members of the cake and bread departments of the union, will be retroactive to June 1, the expiration date of last year's contract.

This is the first raise for the bakery workers in two years. No increase was effected last year, but in 1948 seven and one-half cents per hour was given to bread departments and two and one-half cents per hour to cake departments.

The negotiations have been held during seven sessions since March, Robinette said, and the agreement reached was amicable to both sides.

Assisting the local in wage talks was Stanley Sincavage, international representative of the Bakery and Confectionary Workers International Union, of Wilkes Barre, Pa.

GRIN AND BEAR IT — By Lichty

"Has it ever occurred to you, Truffle, that one of these days you may want to be classed as an essential employee? . . ."

ON THE LINE

By BOB CONSIDINE

TOKYO, (INS)—THE AMERICAN public's confirmed and unshakable faith in the all encompassing efficiency of the atomic bomb reflects itself in the mail which floods the desk of Gen. Douglas MacArthur each day of the Korean war.

Here are some samples:

From Pottstown, Pennsylvania, a lady writes:

"Dear Gen. MacArthur—You are a wonderful man, but don't be so dumb. Please use the atom bomb on those dam North Koreans and Russians.

"Drop about eight A-bombs on Moscow and blow those gangsters to hell, which is really too good for them. And don't mind what happens to you, even though you are sent to some devil's island as a traitor to your country's policy. It's such a shame that Teddy Roosevelt died so soon. If he were at the head of things he would stop this war in three days."

A letter from a Los Angeles resident informs the General that a fleet of subs were recently seen off the coast of Newfoundland and that they "probably" were enemy subs. Then the writer asks:

"Why can't we drop three well placed bombs on Russia and stop all this?"

• — • — •

A New York correspondent suggests to the General that he give the North Koreans 72 hours to get out of their big cities and "then atom bomb their equipment and supplies without killing civilians or losing our own supplies."

"We can't have our men killed in the way they are being killed," the correspondent continues. "We need them when Russia attacks. Please, please do all you can to drop the A-bomb and stop this needless killing. We weren't ready. Why should you and our boys suffer for this mistake?"

MacArthur's mail has been extremely heavy of late. A vast percentage of it is friendly and much of it is of a deeply religious nature, with liberal quotations from Scripture and prayers for the safety of the General and his men.

The General reads all of it. To guard against any possibility that his staff will weed out the critical letters, he has ordered that envelopes not be fully opened before being placed on his desk in the big Dai Ichi building which is the Pentagon of the Far East. He wants to be sure.

In his outer office where he keeps the United Nations flag which once flew over the headquarters of Doctor Ralph Bunche when the latter effected an armistice between Israel and the Arab world, are two framed statements which reflect the General's outlook on both knocks and boosts.

• — • — •

One is Abraham Lincoln's famed "Rail Splitters Philosophy" which runs:

Do the very best I know how—the very best I can; and I mean to keep doing so until the end. If the end brings me out all right what is said against me won't amount to anything; if the end brings me out wrong ten angels swearing I was right would make no difference.

The other frame contains the famed remarks of Lucius Aemilius Paulus, the Roman consul who was selected to conduct the war with the Macedonians in 168 B. C. In the General's opinion it is the ultimate reflection on second guessers. Some excerpts:

"In every circle, and truly, at every table, there are people who lead armies into Macedonia; who know where the camp ought to be placed; what posts ought to be occupied by troops; when and through what pass that territory should be entered; where magazines should be formed; how provisions should be conveyed by land and sea; and when it is proper to engage the enemy, when to lie quiet. And they not only determine what is best to be done, but if anything is done in any other manner than what they have pointed out, they arraign the consul, as if he were on trial before them.

". . . If, therefore any one thinks himself qualified to give advice respecting the war which I am to conduct, which may prove advantageous to the public let him not refuse his assistance to the state, but let him come with me into Macedonia. He shall be furnished with a ship, a horse, a tent; even his travelling charges shall be defrayed. But if he thinks this too much trouble, and prefers the repose of a city life to the toils of war, let him not, on land, assume the office of a pilot."

Charges Dropped In Warnick Death

Charges have been dropped against Mrs. Nell D. Hawkins, Baltimore waitress, who had been held in Baltimore in the knifing death of Charles Warnick, 27, former Bloomington resident.

Testimony at a hearing in Northern District Police Court there Friday brought out that Warnick could have been accidentally killed. Mrs. Hawkins contended Warnick, who shared the apartment with her, fell on the large butcher knife during a scuffle following an argument over money matters.

The autopsy report stated the wound was in such a place that Warnick could have fallen on the knife, and the charges against Mrs. Hawkins of assaulting and killing him were dropped.

The scuffle between Warnick and Mrs. Hawkins occurred in the apartment early last Sunday morning and Warnick was pronounced dead on arrival at Union Memorial Hospital.

Warnick left Bloomington about two years ago and had been working in an ice cream plant there.

1. AN AGREEMENT AND AN EARTHQUAKE launched Ford in the "Wild West." In 1903, Billy Hughson's agreement with the Ford Motor Company established him as the world's first Ford dealer. The San Francisco earthquake almost swallowed up this new enterprise. But the surviving cars did such notable rescue work that many orders followed. Recently Billy posed with Henry Ford II in his first sale.

3. HIS CHILDREN all married and settled, Hughson now lives with his wife in a comfortable hilltop apartment overlooking San Francisco Bay. Trophies, such as the Old Timers Cup, which he is shown examining, remind him of the avid interest in automobile racing he shared with his friends Henry Ford, Barney Oldfield, and Eddie Rickenbacker.

HE RODE FORD'S WAGON TO SUCCESS

World's first Ford dealer finds the good life sought by all Americans

BILLY HUGHSON is known around San Francisco as the man who lost 35 million dollars. That's how much he would have made if he had invested $5,000 in the Ford Motor Company in 1903, as Henry Ford wanted him to do.

But young Billy Hughson had other ideas. With his $5,000 borrowed capital he purchased the first carload of Ford automobiles to roll from the old Mack Avenue plant in Detroit. With them he launched a business and a life that no millions could make richer in happiness and satisfaction.

Although Billy Hughson is the oldest Ford Dealer, there are many other old-time Ford dealers who also cherish the memory of the elder Henry Ford's personal friendship. Today there are 46 dealers who started with a Ford franchise before 1910, and are still actively in business as Ford dealers. Most of these men, attracted by Henry Ford's individuality and genius, went to Detroit to see just what he was doing. At once they caught his spirit and shared his vision of putting America on wheels.

To distribute his cars, Henry Ford picked his men shrewdly and led them courageously. Good citizenship like Hughson's was, and is, the keynote. It reflects the good industrial citizenship the Ford Motor Company constantly strives for.

It's all part of the basic Ford idea . . . to make and distribute the best possible products . . . in the best possible way . . . for the benefit of all.

2. FRIENDS TELL HUGHSON that he has enough satisfied customers to elect him mayor of the city of San Francisco. Like all Ford dealers, Hughson trains his men to be helpful, informative—never "high pressure." Over 300 Hughson "graduates"—men who worked for Billy at one time or another—have opened friendly Ford dealerships of their own.

4. YOUNG IN HEART—with Ford still in his future—Billy Hughson is representative of the quiet success that has come to thousands of independent businessmen who have associated themselves with Ford as dealers. And, as one of the men who "put America on wheels," Billy Hughson knows that it takes a lot of growing to keep up with Ford.

5. A KIWANIS LUNCHEON is merely one in a week-long series of service organization meetings for popular Billy Hughson. Holding important offices in numerous groups, he lends support to children's clinics, cancer campaigns, and is instrumental in raising funds for community-aid projects.

Bakery Workers Granted Hourly Wage Increase

A seven and one-half cent hourly wage increase has been granted to employes of the county's four largest bakeries.

C. W. Robinette, business manager of Bakery Workers Local No. 246, reported that the offer was accepted by the 150 members of the union at a meeting Saturday in the Allegany Trades County Hall.

The agreement was reached with the Community Bakery, Ort Brothers Bakery, and Schmidt's Bakery, all of this city, and McIntyre's Bakery, Westernport.

The increase, covering members of the cake and bread departments of the union, will be retroactive to June 1, the expiration date of last year's contract.

This is the first raise for the bakery workers in two years. No increase was effected last year, but in 1948 seven and one-half cents per hour was given to bread departments and two and one-half cents per hour to cake departments.

The negotiations have been held during seven sessions since March, Robinette said, and the agreement reached was amicable to both sides.

Assisting the local in wage talks was Stanley Sincavage, international representative of the Bakery and Confectionary Workers International Union, of Wilkes Barre, Pa.

GRIN AND BEAR IT — By Lichty

"Has it ever occurred to you, Truffle, that one of these days you may want to be classed as an essential employee? . . ."

ON THE LINE

By BOB CONSIDINE

TOKYO, (INS)—THE AMERICAN public's confirmed and unshakable faith in the all encompassing efficiency of the atomic bomb reflects itself in the mail which floods the desk of Gen. Douglas MacArthur each day of the Korean war.

Here are some samples:

From Pottstown, Pennsylvania, a lady writes:

"Dear Gen. MacArthur—You are a wonderful man, but don't be so dumb. Please use the atom bomb on those dam North Koreans and Russians.

"Drop about eight A-bombs on Moscow and blow those gangsters to hell, which is really too good for them. And don't mind what happens to you, even though you are sent to some devil's island as a traitor to your country's policy. It's such a shame that Teddy Roosevelt died so soon. If he were at the head of things he would stop this war in three days."

A letter from a Los Angeles resident informs the General that a fleet of subs were recently seen off the coast of Newfoundland and that they "probably" were enemy subs. Then the writer asks:

"Why can't we drop three well placed bombs on Russia and stop all this?"

• — • — •

A New York correspondent suggests to the General that he give the North Koreans 72 hours to get out of their big cities and "then atom bomb their equipment and supplies without killing civilians or losing our own supplies."

"We can't have our men killed in the way they are being killed," the correspondent continues. "We need them when Russia attacks. Please, please do all you can to drop the A-bomb and stop this needless killing. We weren't ready. Why should you and our boys suffer for this mistake?"

MacArthur's mail has been extremely heavy of late. A vast percentage of it is friendly and much of it is of a deeply religious nature, with liberal quotations from Scripture and prayers for the safety of the General and his men.

The General reads all of it. To guard against any possibility that his staff will weed out the critical letters, he has ordered that envelopes not be fully opened before being placed on his desk in the big Dai Ichi building which is the Pentagon of the Far East. He wants to be sure.

In his outer office where he keeps the United Nations flag which once flew over the headquarters of Doctor Ralph Bunche when the latter effected an armistice between Israel and the Arab world, are two framed statements which reflect the General's outlook on both knocks and boosts.

• — • — •

One is Abraham Lincoln's famed "Rail Splitters Philosophy" which runs:

Do the very best I know how—the very best I can; and I mean to keep doing so until the end. If the end brings me out all right what is said against me won't amount to anything; if the end brings me out wrong ten angels swearing I was right would make no difference.

The other frame contains the famed remarks of Lucius Aemilius Paulus, the Roman consul who was selected to conduct the war with the Macedonians in 168 B. C. In the General's opinion it is the ultimate reflection on second guessers. Some excerpts:

"In every circle, and truly, at every table, there are people who lead armies into Macedonia; who know where the camp ought to be placed; what posts ought to be occupied by troops; when and through what pass that territory should be entered; where magazines should be formed; how provisions should be conveyed by land and sea; and when it is proper to engage the enemy, when to lie quiet. And they not only determine what is best to be done, but if anything is done in any other manner than what they have pointed out, they arraign the consul, as if he were on trial before them.

". . . If, therefore any one thinks himself qualified to give advice respecting the war which I am to conduct, which may prove advantageous to the public let him not refuse his assistance to the state, but let him come with me into Macedonia. He shall be furnished with a ship, a horse, a tent; even his travelling charges shall be defrayed. But if he thinks this too much trouble, and prefers the repose of a city life to the toils of war, let him not, on land, assume the office of a pilot."

Gains In Food Stores In North America Only

America has huge stores of foodstuffs as insurance against whatever may eventuate from the current international situation, but the remainder of the world is not so fortunate. The Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations reports that nearly all net gains in food stores have occurred in the United States and Canada.

One significant phase of the report is that there is no definite program of building up food reserves anywhere in the world except in North America. In the United States reserves are the indirect result of buying surplus grains and other foodstuffs and holding them off the market in support of prices. No great effort to hoard food grains has been reported from Russia, although the Soviet has indicated in the past it has wheat to sell.

The food situation in China is reported to be worse than in any postwar year.

The United States may lose prestige if it does not make extraordinary arrangements to sell its crop surpluses to countries that need them at prices below the support level.

That is, in fact, the heart of the American farm problem. Unless markets are found for the crops farmers are able and willing to produce there will be no solution except a pinching down of production at the cost of jobs and national income.

Encountering such names as Uijongbu and Seoul, the radio newscasters aren't having the Korean situation any too easy, either.

All Eyes On Ohio

The political axiom "as Maine goes so goes the nation" has long since been repudiated. In fact, the reverse is more often true, Maine standing almost alone in its political habits.

However, the outcome in the Ohio senatorial race in November could be more than a straw in the wind, indicating a trend in the nation's political history fraught with deep significance.

Senator Robert Taft is opposed for re-election by "Jumping Joe" Ferguson, who promises to be no mean antagonist. He has served as state auditor since 1936, being re-elected in 1948 by the largest majority ever given a Democrat in Ohio. While Truman was carrying the state by a bare 7,000, Ferguson piled up a plurality of 291,000.

The son of a coal miner, he has the support of union labor, which has 1,250,000 potential votes, in a total of three million for the state. Labor is out to get Taft because of his part in the Taft-Hartley labor law.

Since Governor Dewey faded from the picture Taft is in line for the presidential nomination in 1952. If he wins in November against the combined opposition of labor his presidential stock will go up. Defeated he is out of the picture, and Republican hopes will turn on Eisenhower.

Repudiation of Taft will greatly strengthen labor's position in the national government, and it would be a long time before anyone in Congress opposed labor legislation. Results in Ohio could set the trend of American government for years to come.

Bananas were first imported to this country 80 years ago. What pedestrians slipped on before that isn't stated.

Another Farm Plan

One thing can be said for the new farm relief plan that has just been published, though without endorsement, by the agricultural committee of the National Planning Association. If written into law, it would not look quite as absurd to consumers as the present scheme does.

As things are now, the government pays for its farm program out of general tax receipts. It uses public money to buy up such crops as potatoes, for example, in order to keep up the market price paid by consumers. The potatoes thus purchased may be sold at a tiny fraction of the government's outlay, or even destroyed; either way, it goes against the grain. But what makes the average citizen fume is the thought that his taxes are being used to make him pay artificially high prices for his food.

Apparently this new proposal would introduce a different system if Congress should adopt it. It calls for government-guaranteed prices based on the best estimates of future supply and demand. This "forward-pricing" mechanism would include direct payments to farmers if market prices fell below the government-set prices. But if prices were higher, farmers would be especially taxed and the money would be set aside to meet the cost of the subsidy.

Perhaps the result would be of no great practical importance—except that the NPA plan would remove an open-to-criticism part of the present system. Certainly it would still provide for large-scale government interference on behalf of the farmers.

It would call for subsidies, which farmers do not like. Whether it would do what any plan of this kind ought to do in order to pass muster—encourage farmers to produce abundant supplies but not gluts of what the public wants—is not clear.

It's good to note, though that the need for something better is pretty generally understood—by farmers and their best friends as well as by the customers who buy what the farms produce.

Many varieties of weeds have built up resistance to 2-4-D, much in the manner Stalin has become immune to peace.

New Red Dissidents

There might seem to be a good omen for the West in the fact that there are in West Germany more than a hundred communist leaders who have been ousted from the party for opposing the Russian foreign policy line, and who have now formed an anti-Kremlin communist group in Germany. Actually this may complicate the political problems of the Western Powers.

These German communist dissidents are likened to the Tito communists in Yugoslavia, since like Tito they cling staunchly to communist doctrine in general, but wish to be mere friends rather than obedient servants of Moscow. The United States has applauded and aided Tito, thus getting into the peculiar position of befriending a communist dictator while being an avowed enemy of communism. If we recognize and encourage the new "Titoist" movement in Germany we shall be in a similar position there. But if we do not we may overlook an important opportunity to obstruct Moscow influence. A good crystal ball would come in very handy.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Ivy And Oak Poisoning

POISON IVY and oak are the most notorious of all plants. They are responsible for spoiling thousands of vacations, especially among children and those who are unable to recognize the "leaflets three." The condition is still a problem because we have no preventive. The outcome is a miserable dermatitis which occasionally incapacitates the victim.

The rash usually develops over exposed areas and for this reason the hands, arms, legs, and face are most commonly affected. The skin is puffy and covered with blisters; as these rupture, they ooze and dry into crusts. Itching is intense. Now and then the poisonous agent is spread via the fingers to other parts of the body.

Irritating oils in the plants are responsible for the lesions. These are not absorbed immediately and therefore inflammation can be lessened and prevented by scrubbing the exposed area thoroly but gently with laundry soap and warm water. A warm bath or shower is preferred. Since the sticky oil also can be removed with a solvent, the use of benzene, carbon tetrachloride or even vinegar helps. These procedures should always be done whenever there is the remotest possibility of having come in contact with the poisonous plant. After all, it only takes a moment to wash—a small price to pay for avoiding seven to 10 days of utter misery. Clothing should be cleansed or thoroly sunned or aerated because in ordinary storage the oils remain active for months or years. The substance adheres to implements, walking canes, and the fur of cats and dogs.

There is no magic salve or ointment to make the dermatitis disappear. Most of the remedies contain soothing ingredients that minimize itching. Calamine lotion with phenol is an old standby. It eases distress, drys the lesions and forms a protective coating over the surface. If the eruption is extensive, sitting in a tub of tepid water with the addition of one-half cupful each of baking soda and cornstarch brings relief. Ointments and salves containing antihistaminics and local anesthetic agents are helpful because they neutralize the allergic aspect. If the redness and swelling is marked, application of cool compresses is most useful. Strips of gauze are soaked in a diluted Burow's solution of aluminum acetate, or copper and zinc sulfates and placed on the involved areas. The material may be wrapped around an extremity or cut into squares for a facial mask or application to a flat surface. For best results the gauze is resoaked and reapplied every two hours.

Many prophylactic serums have been introduced but they are of doubtful value and seldom are recommended. Advances are constantly being made, however, and the latest is a pyridine extract that worked satisfactorily in a small group of patients. Further study will be necessary before the product can be fully evaluated. Destroying the plant is more promising, especially along paths or in areas where children are likely to play.

JOINT TROUBLE

K. L. P. writes: Is hypertrophic lipping the same as arthritis?

REPLY

The terms are not synonymous. Hypertrophic lipping represents the changes that occur in only one form of arthritis. Lipping refers to the thickening that occurs at the edge of a joint which produces in turn a protuberance resembling a lip.

RUNNING EAR

C. E. M. writes: What causes an ear to start running at the age of 58? It drains every night. An odor and itching are also present.

REPLY

Infection is the most common cause but an examination is needed to determine (1) whether it stems from the inner or outer ear or the mastoid and (2) what germ is responsible. These factors must be known before a successful plan of treatment can be started.

SUGAR DETECTION

B. V. writes: Will a urinalysis detect diabetes or is a blood test necessary?

The blood test is more reliable but if the urine contains large amounts of sugar the chances are good that diabetes exists.

Korean Casualties Far Exceed Army Reports; Loan To Franco May Have Serious Repercussions; Truman Unhappy About Aid To Spain

Says DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON.—The American people have always known how to take the bad news along with the good, but despite this the Army is holding back the true casualty list in Korea.

Actually the public has shown itself more alert to the menace of communism than most officials; but the Army has been nervously shielding us from the grim truth—namely, that battle casualties are 75 per cent higher than announced.

This column has now seen the secret casualty list kept by the Army surgeon-general's office. An Army spokesman insisted that all casualties have been announced to the press, but admitted that the complete list had never been tabulated. Believing that the folks at home are entitled to know how many of their men are being lost or wounded in Korea, this column has now made a careful tabulation. This shows that whereas the Army had announced 96 killed in action and 15 died of wounds up to August 1, the secret list of Army dead for the same period is 660. Whereas the Army reported only 587 wounded, the secret list shows 2,975. The Army claimed 815 missing in action, of whom 11 got back. However, the secret list shows 3,000 actually missing in action.

The above figures are only Army casualties and do not include 14 Air Force men killed, 33 missing and six wounded. The Navy had also lost two men in action and the Marines none, as of August 1. It's about time the Army came clean with the American people and told the true story of American losses in Korea.

Franco Defeat

Allied diplomats who watched the legislative blitzkrieg that rushed the $100,000,000 loan to Dictator Franco through the Senate have expressed the private opinion that this may be a worse setback than we have suffered in Korea.

For Russia's main battle is still in the minds of men.

The diplomats who expressed this fear are those who have had to worry about unloading U. S. arms in Antwerp, Marseilles and Amsterdam, and loading arms in Australia. They are also the diplomats who have to worry about the very real problem of whether American arms, once shipped to Europe, will ever be used in actual battle by European armies which have no love for fascist dictators and to whom Franco has become a hated symbol.

Much as the French Government has wanted American planes, and heartily as the French Government supports the United States, the senators who voted $100,000,000 to Franco probably forgot the U. S. planes to France had to be unloaded in North Africa, because French longshoremen would not handle them.

Thus all the war materiel we can manufacture and all the bases we might obtain in Spain through bribing Franco will mean nothing, warn friendly diplomats, if we can't get allied troops to fire our guns.

Backstage Wire-Pulling

Meanwhile here is the backstage story of what happened in the Senate which, on April 27, rejected Spanish aid by a vote of 42-35 and last week voted for Spanish aid, 65 to 15.

The men who pulled wires behind the scenes were Vice President Barkley's son-in-law Max Truitt, who is the paid lobbyist of the Spanish Embassy; Charles Patrick Clark, another paid lobbyist who works through Sen. Owen Brewster of Maine and Congressman Eugene Keogh of Brooklyn; and Sen. Pat McCarran of Nevada who has spent a great deal of time visiting Spain as the guest of Dictator Franco.

Extremely important also was the backstage wirepulling of Secretary Johnson and military leaders. They decided to buck what they knew was State Department policy against Franco, and they won.

It had been agreed by Democratic leaders before the Spanish debate that Sen. Clinton Anderson of New Mexico would raise a point of order against McCarran's loan to Franco, since it was tacked on to an appropriation bill and since the Senate had already voted down authorization for Spanish aid.

But Democratic Leader Scott Lucas of Illinois hurriedly instructed Anderson not to raise this point of order.

After the loan was voted, Anderson backed Lucas into the hall and demanded to know why Democratic leaders had taken it upon themselves to change American policy toward Spain without consulting others. Lucas shrugged and explained that it had all happened so fast, he didn't have time to spread the word.

Lucas admitted he hadn't consulted the White House, but insisted he was helpless to stop Spanish aid. Later, Lucas called the White House, and the President, though not critical of Lucas, was most unhappy about the Franco loan. However, he won't be able to veto it without vetoing the entire appropriations bill, which would throw the governmental machinery into turmoil.

Eloquent Opponent

Most eloquent opponent of aid to Franco was Morse of Oregon:

"I want to say that I hate, with all my soul and being, everything that is communistic," argued Morse. "But likewise, I hate with an equal hatred everything that is fascist . . . so far as I have been able to find, the exercise of a freedom of choice at a truly free ballot box is as nonexistent in Spain as it is in communist Russia.

"I have not been able to bring myself in this wrestle with my conscience to vote in favor of what I think looks like a bribe to Franco for military bases and thereby give support to what I think is anything but freedom of choice in Spain," Morse shouted. "I cannot bring myself to think we strengthen freedom by bribing either fascism or communism.

"I think," he added, "the first test to our making a loan to Spain is whether or not Franco Spain can meet the tests of the United Nations for membership.

"If I thought that by this loan we would save the life of a single American boy, I would pay a bribe to Franco to save that life," continued the Senator from Oregon. "However, I fear that this loan will be an aid to lying Russian propaganda about us. I fear that this loan will raise doubts as to our devotion to the principles of freedom. I fear that this loan will not stand the judgment of history."

Afterward, Morse came off the floor, shaking his head sadly.

"I feel like resigning from the Senate," he brooded. "Most of the liberals have surrendered to their fears."

MATTER OF FACT

By STEWART ALSOP

The Slick And The Dead

WASHINGTON.

WHEN the record of a great public servant, who is dead, is distorted in order to excuse the follies of his successor, it is time to set that record straight. It has been intended to avoid as long as possible mention of the name of Secretary of Defense Louis Johnson in this space. But when Johnson uses the words of James V. Forrestal to defend his own disastrous policies this is no longer possible.

Johnson's recent elaborate defense of his record was squarely based on a statement by Forrestal before the Senate Armed Services Committee in March, 1948. Forrestal then recommended an increase of $3,500,000,000 in defense spending, at the same time warning the committee that "as a military matter" a $9,000,000,000 increase was urgently needed. "In other words," Johnson says, "the dilemma presented by the competing military and economic considerations was resolved at the $13,500,000,000 level" by Forrestal.

Johnson then goes on to claim that the "substance of this decision"—to hold defense spending at this level—has been "repeatedly ratified," and slickly implies that he, Johnson, has thus only done what Forrestal wanted to do. As anyone reasonably well informed should know, this is simply untrue—grossly and demonstrably untrue.

The truth is that when Forrestal asked for the $3,500,000,000 increase in the spring of 1948, he knew that this was insufficient, and had so informed President Truman. Forrestal accepted the $14,000,000,000 defense limit then imposed by Truman under protest, and regarded it as temporary. The Soviet blockade of Berlin, which soon followed, was a clear signal that the Russians were willing to risk war, and confirmed Forrestal's judgment.

Forrestal accordingly asked the Joint Chiefs of Staff to prepare a new budget figure. In August of that year, the Joint Chiefs came up with an inflated estimate of more than $30,000,000,000. After many conferences with his old friend Robert Lovett, then under secretary of state, Forrestal reduced this figure to $23,000,000,000, which he believed would permit a reasonable balance between the vast political commitments of the United States and American military strength.

Early in October, Forrestal presented this new figure to Truman. Truman flatly refused to accept it. Forrestal went back to work, and in November shortly after the election, he submitted to Truman a $17,000,000,000 defense budget, which he believed was an absolute bedrock minimum for the security of the United States. But Truman, suffering from the euphoria which overcame him after his electoral victory, insisted on the Budget Bureau's wholly arbitrary $15,000,000,000 defense limit.

It was then that Forrestal, in long anxious conversation with his friend Lovett, discussed the question of whether he should resign in order to dramatize the danger. Perhaps wrongly, Lovett counselled his friend to stay on, at least for a time. Forrestal did so, but the conviction that the weakness of the United States placed the country in jeopardy preyed on his mind like a cancer, and led soon to his tragic end.

Truman Partly Responsible

This is the true record of Forrestal's position on defense. Obviously President Truman must bear a share of the responsibility for American weakness, but at least his $15,000,000,000 limit would have provided some of the strength we now so tragically lack. Since that time, the danger signals have multiplied—the Soviet atom bomb, the fall of China, the threat to all Asia and all Europe. And Johnson, with the President and the Congress all too ready to believe his boasts about "increasing combat capabilities at less expense," cut below the President's own limit, freezing money appropriated by Congress for defense, discharging combat troops, mothballing ships, slicing into aircraft and weapons procurement.

The facts and figures which make nonsense of Johnson's claim that "over-all combat potential" is higher than ever have repeatedly been reported in this space, and they have not been denied. As for Johnson's claim that he has done only what Forrestal intended to do, a few figures, on the strength planned under the Forrestal regime for June 30, 1949, and the actual strength provided under the Johnson regime on June 25, 1950, tell the story. Forrestal: nine infantry divisions at 94 per cent strength. Johnson: seven such divisions at 75 per cent strength. Forrestal: 24 naval air groups, 34 patrol squardons, 31 Marine squadrons. Johnson: 9, 20, and 12 in the same categories. Forrestal: 10,559 active Air Force planes. Johnson: 7,967 active Air Force planes.

And so on. If Johnson had simply told the country that for economic reasons it was his policy to reduce American strength, he would have been tragically wrong, but at least he would have been honest. To attempt, as he has repeatedly done, to conceal what he has been doing under a cloak of bombast, is not honest. As for this most recent attempt, to identify the policies of the dead Forrestal with his own failures, that is positively indecent.

Conserving Brain Power Needed In Democracy

By ROGER W. BABSON

BABSON PARK, Mass., August 6—"Poor Tom, he was such a nice guy. I was shocked to hear of his untimely death. He was still in his early fifties . . ." Conversations like this are heard too frequently today. I'm very much concerned about the way we are wasting our needed brain power.

A Symptom Of Maladjustment

The struggle today for personal, economic, social and political survival is taxing many men to overexertion. The business tempo becomes faster and faster whether you are on the production line, in the office, or part of management. Today's social responsibilities find men burning the candle at both ends. Hot and cold wars help keep men nervous and jittery. The result: a civilization "on the go" of impatient, tense persons, characterized by hypertensions, ulcers, insomnia, a high divorce rate, delinquency, and crime.

Have you too become touchy and sensitive about little things? Have family quarrels grown out of proportion to the incident? Do business associates make you irritable? Are headaches bothering you? Chances are, then, you too have forgotten how to relax. My long years of active life have taught me that, if you are to survive, you will have to learn how to conserve and utilize economically your own physical and mental resources. You owe it not only to yourself and your family, but to your country. A healthy, vigorous, emotionally well-balanced stock is especially essential to the democratic state if it is not to be submerged and overrun.

Hard Work Vs Overwork

Hard work never hurt anyone. There is, however, a very real difference between hard work and overwork. Hard work produces a pleasant, healthy good-and-tired feeling easily dispelled by food and sleep. Overwork drives a tired body and mind on and on without rest and without thought of the consequences of overfatigue. Many overworked people can't seem to slow down. Instead they immerse themselves in more work or seek escape through overstimulating commercial amusements, or liquor. No matter what a man's goal may be—money, professional advancement, social prestige, or what have you—he must take time out periodically to restore body tonus.

Too many American businessmen are tense, headachy, and hurry, believing that if they are to attain their goals, they cannot take time out for quiet diversion. These individuals will not live long! They are "selling themselves for a mess of pottage." What most of these overworked people don't realize is that they could easily accomplish 50 per cent better results if they would learn how to relax through regular periods of constructive body-mind-soul refreshment.

Maintaining Maximum Output

Too few business leaders have concerned themselves with their own problems of prevention of psycho-physical breakdown and increasing their own physical stamina, particularly those over forty. It is not my purpose to prescribe a course of action for such individuals. I shall be satisfied if I have made them aware of their own needs. They owe it to the concern for which they work.

Experience has taught me that in order to maintain maximum output, the average man must find a job he enjoys doing, maintain good health, learn how to play, achieve satisfaction in love, and keep spiritually refreshed. To live a useful, well-balanced life today requires vigor. Vigor comes primarily from physical, mental and spiritual energy. Such energy can be built up only by alternating periods of powerful output with proper periods of relaxation and meditation — preparation for ever greater achievement.

Take Quiet Vacations

This is vacation time. Take a vacation by all means. Take with you a book or two on relaxation, meditation, and prayer. It is an excellent time to set up a conservation program for your own resources! Don't dash around in an automobile. Go to some quiet place and sleep!

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

"Peter And The Wolf"

I HAD intended to invite my friend, Westbrook Pegler, up to these Berkshire Hills to listen to Eleanor Roosevelt recite "Peter and the Wolf" to Prokofieff's music played by the Boston Symphony Orchestra under the direction of Serge Koussevitzky at Tanglewood.

It occurred to me that would give Peg a chance to atone for all his sins. Unfortunately, I have something else to do on that occasion and shall have to forego the sadistic pleasure of watching Pegler writhe and squirm, listening to those lines read by a falsetto instead of a baritone.

Children love "Peter and the Wolf" and they have listened to it on the radio and on recordings. The narrative goes well with a pleasant male voice like Basil Rathbone's. The music is simple and sweet and is good training in orchestration, as each instrument represents a person or an animal.

For some reason, widely discussed but not understood at Tanglewood, Eleanor Roosevelt volunteered her services to do this recitation on the occasion of "Tanglewood on Parade."

This is a wonderful fete when young American musicians gather to perform their various specialties. It is a sort of college campus class day, starting with a blare of trumpets and a students' parade. Then each section goes off to its own place to do opera, chamber music, student conducting of a students' orchestra, and all that sort of thing.

At night, the full Boston Symphony plays under Koussevitzky, who, at Tanglewood, is always young even in his late seventies. The evening show is generally somewhat marred by long and extraneous speeches which bore and sometimes annoy the audience, who come for music and not for politics and can be very rude.

As silent as this vast audience which can run up to 20,000 persons in the open air, always is during the music, so noisy does it become during the speechmaking, the attitude up here seems to be that listening to a speech under the moon is a sacrifice of time and beauty.

But Eleanor Roosevelt, as the narrator in "Peter and the Wolf," will be a novelty. Thus she enters into the role of the thespian.

I do not share Pegler's dislike for Eleanor Roosevelt. In fact, his preoccupation with the lady often has caused alarm that he has fallen deeply in love with her. In my case, it is easier: I can take her or leave her. I prefer my music unadulterated. If Pegler wants to squirm, he can do it on his own.

The remarkable thing about Tanglewood is that it does produce music by Americans. Recently, I listened to Lukas Foss's "Song of Songs," conducted by Leonard Bernstein. When one realizes that Lukas Foss is 27 years old, and Leonard Bernstein, 31, it brings a lump to the throat of an old sentimentalist like myself, who yearns for the day when American orchestras will play American-composed music, conducted by Americans.

There is lots of politics up at Tanglewood this year, which is unfortunate. Koussevitzky resigned from the Boston Symphony, but he apparently had no intention of resigning from Tanglewood. This got itself into a snarl. Koussevitzky made Tanglewood and it is his child and as long as he lives, it should be so recognized, and when he dies, he will have left a great monument to American music.

He has brought to Tanglewood a remarkable group of young people: Aaron Copland, Leonard Bernstein, Lukas Foss, David Diamond, Harold Shapero, and many others. He wants them to have a chance to show what they can do and he apparently resents intrusion from outside.

This year they brought in a conductor from Italy, which seemed to be unnecessary and old Koussevitzky said so, which started a rumpus.

What everyone knows is that he favors Leonard Bernstein, born in Lawrence, Mass., who, whatever his shortcomings, is probably the best of his generation of American conductors. The business men who run the show do not believe that Bernstein will attract between 15,000 and 20,000 music lovers on a Sunday afternoon.

Tanglewood, however, exists for America. It is one of the few places where our young people have a chance—conductor, composer, artist. As long as it is maintained for that purpose, it will stimulate the interest and enthusiasm of those who love music.

Gains In Food Stores In North America Only

America has huge stores of foodstuffs as insurance against whatever may eventuate from the current international situation, but the remainder of the world is not so fortunate. The Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations reports that nearly all net gains in food stores have occurred in the United States and Canada.

One significant phase of the report is that there is no definite program of building up food reserves anywhere in the world except in North America. In the United States reserves are the indirect result of buying surplus grains and other foodstuffs and holding them off the market in support of prices. No great effort to hoard food grains has been reported from Russia, although the Soviet has indicated in the past it has wheat to sell.

The food situation in China is reported to be worse than in any postwar year.

The United States may lose prestige if it does not make extraordinary arrangements to sell its crop surpluses to countries that need them at prices below the support level.

That is, in fact, the heart of the American farm problem. Unless markets are found for the crops farmers are able and willing to produce there will be no solution except a pinching down of production at the cost of jobs and national income.

Encountering such names as Uijongbu and Seoul, the radio newscasters aren't having the Korean situation any too easy, either.

All Eyes On Ohio

The political axiom "as Maine goes so goes the nation" has long since been repudiated. In fact, the reverse is more often true, Maine standing almost alone in its political habits.

However, the outcome in the Ohio senatorial race in November could be more than a straw in the wind, indicating a trend in the nation's political history fraught with deep significance.

Senator Robert Taft is opposed for re-election by "Jumping Joe" Ferguson, who promises to be no mean antagonist. He has served as state auditor since 1936, being re-elected in 1948 by the largest majority ever given a Democrat in Ohio. While Truman was carrying the state by a bare 7,000, Ferguson piled up a plurality of 291,000.

The son of a coal miner, he has the support of union labor, which has 1,250,000 potential votes, in a total of three million for the state. Labor is out to get Taft because of his part in the Taft-Hartley labor law.

Since Governor Dewey faded from the picture Taft is in line for the presidential nomination in 1952. If he wins in November against the combined opposition of labor his presidential stock will go up. Defeated he is out of the picture, and Republican hopes will turn on Eisenhower.

Repudiation of Taft will greatly strengthen labor's position in the national government, and it would be a long time before anyone in Congress opposed labor legislation. Results in Ohio could set the trend of American government for years to come.

Bananas were first imported to this country 80 years ago. What pedestrians slipped on before that isn't stated.

Another Farm Plan

One thing can be said for the new farm relief plan that has just been published, though without endorsement, by the agricultural committee of the National Planning Association. If written into law, it would not look quite as absurd to consumers as the present scheme does.

As things are now, the government pays for its farm program out of general tax receipts. It uses public money to buy up such crops as potatoes, for example, in order to keep up the market price paid by consumers. The potatoes thus purchased may be sold at a tiny fraction of the government's outlay, or even destroyed; either way, it goes against the grain. But what makes the average citizen fume is the thought that his taxes are being used to make him pay artificially high prices for his food.

Apparently this new proposal would introduce a different system if Congress should adopt it. It calls for government-guaranteed prices based on the best estimates of future supply and demand. This "forward-pricing" mechanism would include direct payments to farmers if market prices fell below the government-set prices. But if prices were higher, farmers would be especially taxed and the money would be set aside to meet the cost of the subsidy.

Perhaps the result would be of no great practical importance—except that the NPA plan would remove an open-to-criticism part of the present system. Certainly it would still provide for large-scale government interference on behalf of the farmers.

It would call for subsidies, which farmers do not like. Whether it would do what any plan of this kind ought to do in order to pass muster—encourage farmers to produce abundant supplies but not gluts of what the public wants—is not clear.

It's good to note, though that the need for something better is pretty generally understood—by farmers and their best friends as well as by the customers who buy what the farms produce.

Many varieties of weeds have built up resistance to 2-4-D, much in the manner Stalin has become immune to peace.

New Red Dissidents

There might seem to be a good omen for the West in the fact that there are in West Germany more than a hundred communist leaders who have been ousted from the party for opposing the Russian foreign policy line, and who have now formed an anti-Kremlin communist group in Germany. Actually this may complicate the political problems of the Western Powers.

These German communist dissidents are likened to the Tito communists in Yugoslavia, since like Tito they cling staunchly to communist doctrine in general, but wish to be mere friends rather than obedient servants of Moscow. The United States has applauded and aided Tito, thus getting into the peculiar position of befriending a communist dictator while being an avowed enemy of communism. If we recognize and encourage the new "Titoist" movement in Germany we shall be in a similar position there. But if we do not we may overlook an important opportunity to obstruct Moscow influence. A good crystal ball would come in very handy.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

Ivy And Oak Poisoning

POISON IVY and oak are the most notorious of all plants. They are responsible for spoiling thousands of vacations, especially among children and those who are unable to recognize the "leaflets three." The condition is still a problem because we have no preventive. The outcome is a miserable dermatitis which occasionally incapacitates the victim.

The rash usually develops over exposed areas and for this reason the hands, arms, legs, and face are most commonly affected. The skin is puffy and covered with blisters; as these rupture, they ooze and dry into crusts. Itching is intense. Now and then the poisonous agent is spread via the fingers to other parts of the body.

Irritating oils in the plants are responsible for the lesions. These are not absorbed immediately and therefore inflammation can be lessened and prevented by scrubbing the exposed area thoroly but gently with laundry soap and warm water. A warm bath or shower is preferred. Since the sticky oil also can be removed with a solvent, the use of benzene, carbon tetrachloride or even vinegar helps. These procedures should always be done whenever there is the remotest possibility of having come in contact with the poisonous plant. After all, it only takes a moment to wash—a small price to pay for avoiding seven to 10 days of utter misery. Clothing should be cleansed or thoroly sunned or aerated because in ordinary storage the oils remain active for months or years. The substance adheres to implements, walking canes, and the fur of cats and dogs.

There is no magic salve or ointment to make the dermatitis disappear. Most of the remedies contain soothing ingredients that minimize itching. Calamine lotion with phenol is an old standby. It eases distress, drys the lesions and forms a protective coating over the surface. If the eruption is extensive, sitting in a tub of tepid water with the addition of one-half cupful each of baking soda and cornstarch brings relief. Ointments and salves containing antihistaminics and local anesthetic agents are helpful because they neutralize the allergic aspect. If the redness and swelling is marked, application of cool compresses is most useful. Strips of gauze are soaked in a diluted Burow's solution of aluminum acetate, or copper and zinc sulfates and placed on the involved areas. The material may be wrapped around an extremity or cut into squares for a facial mask or application to a flat surface. For best results the gauze is resoaked and reapplied every two hours.

• — • — •

Many prophylactic serums have been introduced but they are of doubtful value and seldom are recommended. Advances are constantly being made, however, and the latest is a pyridine extract that worked satisfactorily in a small group of patients. Further study will be necessary before the product can be fully evaluated. Destroying the plant is more promising, especially along paths or in areas where children are likely to play.

It's about time the Army came clean with the American people and told the true story of American losses in Korea.

Franco Defeat

Allied diplomats who watched the legislative blitzkrieg that rushed the $100,000,000 loan to Dictator Franco through the Senate have expressed the private opinion that this may be a worse setback than we have suffered in Korea.

For Russia's main battle is still in the minds of men.

The diplomats who expressed this fear are those who have had to worry about unloading U. S. arms in Antwerp, Marseilles and Amsterdam, and loading arms in Australia. They are also the diplomats who have to worry about the very real problem of whether American arms, once shipped to Europe, will ever be used in actual battle by European armies which have no love for fascist dictators and to whom Franco has become a hated symbol.

Much as the French Government has wanted American planes, and heartily as the French Government supports the United States, the senators who voted $100,000,000 to Franco probably forgot the U. S. planes to France had to be unloaded in North Africa, because French longshoremen would not handle them.

Thus all the war materiel we can manufacture and all the bases we might obtain in Spain through bribing Franco will mean nothing, warn friendly diplomats, if we can't get allied troops to fire our guns.

Backstage Wire-Pulling

Meanwhile here is the backstage story of what happened in the Senate which, on April 27, rejected Spanish aid by a vote of 42-35 and last week voted for Spanish aid, 65 to 15.

The men who pulled wires behind the secret sessions were Vice President Barkley's son-in-law Max Truitt, who is the paid lobbyist of the Spanish Embassy; Charles Patrick Clark, another paid lobbyist who works through Sen. Owen Brewster of Maine and Congressman Eugene Keogh of Brooklyn; and Sen. Pat McCarran of Nevada who has spent a great deal of time visiting Spain as the guest of Dictator Franco.

Extremely important also was the backstage wirepulling of Secretary Johnson and military leaders. They decided to buck what they knew was State Department policy against Franco, and they won.

It had been agreed by Democratic leaders before the Spanish debate that Sen. Clinton Anderson of New Mexico would raise a point of order against McCarran's loan to Franco, since it was tacked on to an appropriation bill and since the Senate had already voted down authorization for Spanish aid.

But Democratic Leader Scott Lucas of Illinois hurriedly instructed Anderson not to raise this point of order.

After the loan was voted, Anderson backed Lucas into the hall and demanded to know why Democratic leaders had taken it upon themselves to change American policy toward Spain without consulting others. Lucas shrugged and explained that it had all happened so fast, he didn't have time to spread the word.

Lucas admitted he hadn't consulted the White House, but insisted he was helpless to stop Spanish aid. Later, Lucas called the White House, and the President, though not critical of Lucas, was most unhappy about the Franco loan. However, he won't be able to veto it without vetoing the entire appropriations bill, which would throw the governmental machinery into turmoil.

Eloquent Opponent

Most eloquent opponent of aid to Franco was Morse of Oregon:

"I want to say that I hate, with all my soul and being, everything that is communistic," argued Morse. "But likewise, I hate with an equal hatred everything that is fascist . . . so far as I have been able to find, the exercise of a freedom of choice at a truly free ballot box is as nonexistent in Spain as it is in communist Russia.

"I have not been able to bring myself in this wrestle with my conscience to vote in favor of what I think looks like a bribe to Franco for military bases and thereby give support to what I think is anything but freedom of choice in Spain," Morse shouted. "I cannot bring myself to think we strengthen freedom by bribing either fascism or communism.

"I think," he added, "the first test to our making a loan to Spain is whether or not Franco Spain can meet the tests of the United Nations for membership.

"If I thought that by this loan we would save the life of a single American boy, I would pay a bribe to Franco to save that life," continued the Senator from Oregon. "However, I fear that this loan will be an aid to lying Russian propaganda about us. I fear that this loan will raise doubts as to our devotion to the principles of freedom. I fear that this loan will not stand the judgment of history."

Afterward, Morse came off the floor, shaking his head sadly.

"I feel like resigning from the Senate," he brooded. "Most of the liberals have surrendered to their fears."

MATTER OF FACT

By STEWART ALSOP

The Slick And The Dead

WASHINGTON.

WHEN the record of a great public servant, who is dead, is distorted in order to excuse the follies of his successor, it is time to set that record straight. It has been intended to avoid as long as possible mention of the name of Secretary of Defense Louis Johnson in this space. But when Johnson uses the words of James V. Forrestal to defend his own disastrous policies this is no longer possible.

Johnson's recent elaborate defense of his record was squarely based on a statement by Forrestal before the Senate Armed Services Committee in March, 1948. Forrestal then recommended an increase of $3,500,000,000 in defense spending, at the same time warning the committee that "as a military matter" a $9,000,000,000 increase was urgently needed. "In other words," Johnson says, "the dilemma presented by the competing military and economic considerations was resolved at the $13,500,000,000 level" by Forrestal.

Johnson then goes on to claim that the "substance of this decision"—to hold defense spending at this level—has been "repeatedly ratified," and slickly implies that he, Johnson, has thus only done what Forrestal wanted to do. As anyone reasonably well informed should know, this is simply untrue—grossly and demonstrably untrue.

The truth is that when Forrestal asked for the $3,500,000,000 increase in the spring of 1948, he knew that this was insufficient, and had so informed President Truman. Forrestal accepted the $14,000,000,000 defense limit then imposed by Truman under protest, and regarded it as temporary. The Soviet blockade of Berlin, which soon followed, was a clear signal that the Russians were willing to risk war, and confirmed Forrestal's judgment.

Forrestal accordingly asked the Joint Chiefs of Staff to prepare a new budget figure. In August of that year, the Joint Chiefs came up with an inflated estimate of more than $30,000,000,000. After many conferences with his old friend Robert Lovett, then under secretary of state, Forrestal reduced this figure to $23,000,000,000, which he believed would permit a reasonable balance between the vast political commitments of the United States and American military strength.

Early in October, Forrestal presented this new figure to Truman. Truman flatly refused to accept it. Forrestal went back to work, and in November shortly after the election, he submitted to Truman a $17,000,000,000 defense budget, which he believed was an absolute bedrock minimum for the security of the United States. But Truman, suffering from the euphoria which overcame him after his electoral victory, insisted on the Budget Bureau's wholly arbitrary $15,000,000,000 defense limit.

It was then that Forrestal, in long anxious conversation with his friend Lovett, discussed the question of whether he should resign in order to dramatize the danger. Perhaps wrongly, Lovett counselled his friend to stay on, at least for a time. Forrestal did so, but the conviction that the weakness of the United States placed the country in jeopardy preyed on his mind like a cancer, and led soon to his tragic end.

Truman Partly Responsible

This is the true record of Forrestal's position on defense. Obviously President Truman must bear a share of the responsibility for American weakness, but at least his $15,000,000,000 limit would have provided some of the strength we now so tragically lack. Since that time, the danger signals have multiplied—the Soviet atom bomb, the fall of China, the threat to all Asia and all Europe. And Johnson, with the President and the Congress all too ready to believe his boasts about "increasing combat capabilities at less expense," cut below the President's own limit, freezing money appropriated by Congress for defense, discharging combat troops, mothballing ships, slicing into aircraft and weapons procurement.

The facts and figures which make nonsense of Johnson's claim that "over-all combat potential" is higher than ever have repeatedly been reported in this space, and they have not been denied. As for Johnson's claim that he has done only what Forrestal intended to do, a few figures, on the strength planned under the Forrestal regime for June 30, 1949, and the actual strength provided under the Johnson regime on June 25, 1950, tell the story. Forrestal: nine infantry divisions at 94 per cent strength. Johnson: seven such divisions at 75 per cent strength. Forrestal: 24 naval air groups, 34 patrol squardons, 31 Marine squadrons. Johnson: 9, 20, and 12 in the same categories. Forrestal: 10,559 active Air Force planes. Johnson: 7,967 active Air Force planes.

And so on. If Johnson had simply told the country that for economic reasons it was his policy to reduce American strength, he would have been tragically wrong, but at least he would have been honest. To attempt, as he has repeatedly done, to conceal what he has been doing under a cloak of bombast, is not honest. As for this most recent attempt, to identify the policies of the dead Forrestal with his own failures, that is positively indecent.

Conserving Brain Power Needed In Democracy

By ROGER W. BABSON

BABSON PARK, Mass., August 6—"Poor Tom, he was such a nice guy. I was shocked to hear of his untimely death. He was still in his early fifties . . ." Conversations like this are heard too frequently today. I'm very much concerned about the way we are wasting our needed brain power.

A Symptom Of Maladjustment

The struggle today for personal, economic, social and political survival is taxing many men to overexertion. The business tempo becomes faster and faster whether you are on the production line, in the office, or part of management. Today's social responsibilities find men burning the candle at both ends. Hot and cold wars help keep men nervous and jittery. The result: a civilization "on the go" of impatient, tense persons, characterized by hypertensions, ulcers, insomnia, a high divorce rate, delinquency, and crime.

Have you too become touchy and sensitive about little things? Have family quarrels grown out of proportion to the incident? Do business associates make you irritable? Are headaches bothering you? Chances are, then, you too have forgotten how to relax. My long years of active life have taught me that, if you are to survive, you will have to learn how to conserve and utilize economically your own physical and mental resources. You owe it not only to yourself and your family, but to your country. A healthy, vigorous, emotionally well-balanced stock is especially essential to the democratic state if it is not to be submerged and overrun.

Hard Work Vs Overwork

Hard work never hurt anyone. There is, however, a very real difference between hard work and overwork. Hard work produces a pleasant, healthy good-and-tired feeling easily dispelled by food and sleep. Overwork drives a tired body and mind on and on without rest and without thought of the consequences of overfatigue. Many overworked people can't seem to slow down. Instead they immerse themselves in more work or seek escape through overstimulating commercial amusements, or liquor. No matter what a man's goal may be—money, professional advancement, social prestige, or what have you—he must take time out periodically to restore body tonus.

Too many American businessmen are tense, headachy, and hurr believing that if they are to attain their goals, they cannot take time out for quiet diversion. These individuals will not live long! They are "selling themselves for a mess of pottage." What most of these overworked people don't realize is that they could easily accomplish 50 per cent better results if they would learn how to relax through regular periods of constructive body-mind-soul refreshment.

Maintaining Maximum Output

Too few business leaders have concerned themselves with their own problems of prevention of psycho-physical breakdown and increasing their own physical stamina, particularly those over forty. It is not my purpose to prescribe a course of action for such individuals. I shall be satisfied if I have made them aware of their own needs. They owe it to the concern for which they work.

Experience has taught me that in order to maintain maximum output, the average man must find a job he enjoys doing, maintain good health, learn how to play, achieve satisfaction in love, and keep spiritually refreshed. To live a useful well-balanced life today requires vigor. Vigor comes primarily from physical, mental and spiritua energy. Such energy can be built up only by alternating periods of powerful output with proper periods of relaxation and meditation — preparation for ever greater achievement.

Take Quiet Vacations

This is vacation time. Take a vacation by all means. Take with you a book or two on relaxation meditation, and prayer. It is an excellent time to set up a conservation program for your own resources! Don't dash around in an automobile. Go to some quiet place and sleep!

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

"Peter And The Wolf"

I HAD intended to invite my friend, Westbrook Pegler, up to these Berkshire Hills to listen to Eleanor Roosevelt recite "Peter and the Wolf" to Prokofieff's music played by the Boston Symphony Orchestra under the direction of Serge Koussevitzky at Tanglewood.

It occurred to me that would give Peg a chance to atone for all his sins. Unfortunately, I have something else to do on that occasion and shall have to forego the sadistic pleasure of watching Pegler writhe and squirm, listening to those lines read by a falsetto instead of a baritone.

Children love "Peter and the Wolf" and they have listened to it on the radio and on recordings. The narrative goes well with a pleasant male voice like Basil Rathbone's. The music is simple and sweet and is good training in orchestration, as each instrument represents a person or an animal.

For some reason, widely discussed but not understood at Tanglewood, Eleanor Roosevelt volunteered her services to do this recitation on the occasion of "Tanglewood on Parade."

This is a wonderful fete when young American musicians gather to perform their various specialties. It is a sort of college campus class day, starting with a blare of trumpets and a students' parade. Then each section goes off to its own place to do opera, chamber music, student conducting of a students' orchestra, and all that sort of thing.

At night, the full Boston Symphony plays under Koussevitzky who, at Tanglewood, is always young even in his late seventies. The evening show is generally somewha marred by long and extrane speeches which bore and sometime annoy the audience, who come fo music and not for politics and ca be very rude.

As silent as this vast audience which can run up to 20,000 person in the open air, always is during the music, so noisy does it becom during the speechmaking, the attitude up here seems to be tha listening to a speech under th moon is a sacrifice of time an beauty.

But Eleanor Roosevelt, as the narrator in "Peter and the Wolf," wi be a novelty. Thus she enters int the role of the thespian.

I do not share Pegler's dislike fo Eleanor Roosevelt. In fact, his pre occupation with the lady often ha caused alarm that he has falle deeply in love with her. In m case, it is easier: I can take he or leave her. I prefer my musi unadulterated. If Pegler wants t squirm, he can do it on his own.

The remarkable thing about Tanglewood is that it does produce music by Americans. Recently, I listened to Lukas Foss's "Song of Songs," conducted by Leonard Bernstein. When one realizes that Lukas Foss is 27 years old, and Leonard Bernstein, 31, it brings a lump to the throat of an old sentimentalist like myself, who yearns for the day when American orchestras will play American-composed music, conducted by Americans.

There is lots of politics up a Tanglewood this year, which is un fortunate. Koussevitzky resigne from the Boston Symphony, bu he apparently had no intention o resigning from Tanglewood. Thi got itself into a snarl. Koussevitzk made Tanglewood and it is hi child and as long as he lives, should be so recognized, and whe he dies, he will have left a grea monument to American music.

He has brought to Tanglewood remarkable group of young people Aaron Copland, Leonard Bernstein Lukas Foss, David Diamond, Harol Shapero, and many others. He want them to have a chance to sho what they can do and he apparentl resents intrusion from outside.

This year they brought in a con ductor from Italy, which seeme to be unnecessary and old Kous said so, which started a rum

What everyone knows is that he favors Leonard Bernstein, born in Lawrence, Mass., who, whatever his shortcomings, is probably the best of his generation of American conductors. The business men who run the show do not believe that Bernstein will attract between 15,000 and 20,000 music lovers on a Sunday afternoon.

Tanglewood, however, exists fo America. It is one of the few place where our young people have chance—conductor, composer, artist As long as it is maintained fo that purpose, it will stimulate the interest and enthusiasm of thos who love music.

KEEPING UP WITH

HOLLYWOOD

By DOROTHY MANNERS

(Substituting for vacationing Louella Parsons)

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 6 (INS) — Seems hard to believe — but Errol Flynn is going to use Princess Irene Ghika in "The Bargain" — if she still wants to work in his picture.

Errol Flynn

Never say Errol isn't a gentleman of honor. Or is he the world's best showman since Barnum?

When Flynn was in love with "The Geek," as he calls her, he promised her a role in the picture he is making immediately in Paris. Even though his heart now belongs to Patrice Wymore, the job is Irene's if she wants a screen career.

Barbara Stanwyck didn't know until the plane landed at Orly Airport in Paris that Mrs. Charles Lindberg had been on the trans-Atlantic crossing with her. La Stanwyck almost swooned when she got off the plane and saw Charles Lindberg waiting to greet his wife.

From Rome, Barbara writes a very amusing letter. She says:

"Can you imagine this? Bob (Taylor) has made a 'package deal' for a butler, cook and a maid for $105 a month—American money. And the cook, if you please, is the former chef of the King of Italy!"

• — • — •

Let it be said for Marlon Brando that he is certainly not trying to live up to that magazine profile on him which went out of the way to stress his bad manners.

Since Brando has been back in Hollywood, awaiting Vivien Leigh's arrival for "Streetcar Named Desire," he has been immaculately groomed and the soul of politeness to everyone.

Del Mar communique from L.O.P.: "Lucille Ball and Desi Arnaz drove down yesterday to be the guests of Dr. Mark Rabwin and his wife. Lucille is still broken hearted over the loss of her expected baby, and she'll recuperate at the home of her doctor.

"Saw Marjorie Little again yesterday and she tells me her best beau, Jimmy Durante, has a terrific television deal on the fire. He will make a flying trip to New York to sign the contract.

"Betty Grable was at the track Saturday and got a royal welcome on her first appearance this year. She looks so pretty and so thin.

"And, you can tell George Jessel for me that he is no longer the best toastmaster in the world. His boss, Joseph Schenck, attended a small dinner party and had the guests in hysterics over his wit and humor.

"There are many picture people here in Del Mar, and if I get any news, I'll send it to you—but don't expect me to work. Love—Louella."

No one has a better stand-in than Glenn Ford in "Follow the Sun." Ben Hogan will do all the long shots and close ups for the golf playing scenes.

Of course, you know this picture is based on Hogan's life, with Glenn playing the role of Ben. When they make the tournament scenes at Pebble Beach everyone is keeping his fingers crossed that Big Crosby will do a casual stroll on.

Bing gets a kick out of walking through the background of other stars pictures. He is crazy about Hogan—so he might just up and do it.

Myrna Loy, now in Washington, is one of the few women ever invited to broadcast on "Voice of America." Myrna goes to New York next week for the radio show especially directed at the countries behind the iron curtain.

Ann Sothern, who has been dating Dick Egan, switched to Dalies Frantz as a dinner partner at the Oceanhouse. She is living at the beautiful beach hotel while her home is being redecorated.

Hedy LaMarr put her Beverly Hills home on the market for $95,000 just before she took off for New York. Her two children are summer camping in Canada again.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

SECRETS OF CHARM

by JOHN ROBERT POWERS

NOT by chance alone does any woman achieve popularity. She earns her place in her circle by developing personality characteristics that make her company a pleasure to others.

A gracious manner is high on the list of charms of every popular woman. No matter where she exercises her influence—in home, business, club, school, resort, or social life—her warm, out-giving manner is quickly recognized and wins everyone's confidence.

More Than Manners

It is not so much what she does as the manner in which she does it that marks her for what she so charmingly is—a winning woman of gracious action and word at all times.

Of course she has good manners; she extends her hand and grants her smile in greeting just like everybody else. But she takes the extra trouble to give you a welcome from her heart and mind with her eyes, voice and smile as she repeats your name in a soft, clear tone.

The gracious-mannered woman is never deliberately or thoughtlessly rude. She is horrified by the crassness of people who are curt to the delivery boy and then oversolicitious of a socially prominent friend. Her most prompt and generous attention is always accorded to anyone who performs a service for her.

Paragon Among Women

In fact, generosity is the secret of her manner. It is an awareness and consideration of others' feelings and reactions that makes the presence of this woman so desirable to everyone. Because she thinks first of others, they think first of her and consider her a paragon of women!

You may not be the most beautiful, best-dressed, or youngest woman in the room, but if you always wear a courteous manner, you will be garbed in jeweled, ageless charm.

If you wish to be popular, remember the admonition of Emerson: "Life is short but there is always time for courtesy."

The heat's on. Yes, sir, we are really having a heat wave in California and everyone seems to be affected.

The radio programs are feeling the heat. The other day "Ma Perkins" followed Gabriel Heatter and had to be revived by "Young Dr. Malone".

And kids will do anything to cool off. Yesterday an ice cream vendor reached down into his freezer and uncovered four stowaways.

The hot spell has even reached into the movie studios . . . I walked on to the set and heard Humphrey Bogart say to the director: "It's too hot today . . . can't I kill Alan Ladd tomorrow?"

Try And Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

On a streamliner out of Chicago I fell in with a trio of be-bop experts on their way to fill a night-club engagement in Louisville, and managed to understand almost a third of everything they had to say. The leader in particular reminded me of a character Garson Kanin loves to talk about. This exponent of rhythm in the super-modern idiom—let's call him Jones—kept himself hopped up continuously with marijuana, and when he was drafted in 1943, found himself unable to cope with army life when his supply suddenly was cut off.

As a desperate expedient, Jones decided to plant a marijuana patch around his barracks. Day after day he watered his prospering shrubs industriously and without interference. Just before they were ripe for plucking, however, the official recognition he had been dreading materialized. A full colonel strode into the area, and Jones's company was drawn up for inspection. "Private Jones," barked the colonel, "step two paces forward.

"Here's where I get it," thought Jones. The colonel eyed him sharply, then pinned a decoration on his lapel. "This medal," he explained, "is for the only man in the outfit with sufficient pride to plant a little greenery outside his barracks and tend it in his own spare time!"

MIRROR OF YOUR MIND

By LAWRENCE GOULD
Consulting Psychologist

Do quarreling parents make children neurotic?

Answer: Yes, writes Dr. Harrington V. Ingham in the American Journal of Psychiatry. A comparative study of psychoneurotic and mentally healthy students at the University of California, Los Angeles, showed that family quarrels and the mental illness of a member of the household are important factors in creating neuroses, while most other supposed causes—e. g., the loss of a parent—appear minor. Parents who remain together "for their children's sake" but cannot stop quarreling would do less harm if they separated.

Will teaching people facts change their beliefs?

Answer: Usually not, says John G. Gleason in Personnel Psychology. A survey of the attitudes of employees toward the Taft-Hartley Act conducted in a large industrial concern seemed to bear out the conviction of social psychologists that "beliefs are not readily changed by the presentation of facts." The same facts can be interpreted in so many different ways that whatever factual information anyone is given, he will manage to use or distort it so as to confirm what he already wants to believe.

Will neurosis get well without treatment?

Answer: Most leading authorities say No. If it seems to "clear up of its own accord," the reason will be either (a) that the conflicts which create it have been more successfully repressed out of consciousness for the time being, or (b) that the person's situation has changed so that there is less to aggravate them. Finding somebody to love you may at first relieve your feelings of inadequacy, but eventually you will "project" your neurotic doubts onto the other person and feel sure he or she cannot "really" love you.

HOLLYWOOD

By DOROTHY MANNERS

(Substituting for vacationing Louella Parsons)

HOLLYWOOD, Aug. 6 (INS) — Seems hard to believe — but Errol Flynn is going to use Princess Irene Ghika in "The Bargain" — if she still wants to work in his picture.

Errol Flynn

Never say Errol isn't a gentleman of honor. Or is he the world's best showman since Barnum?

When Flynn was in love with "The Geek," as he calls her, he promised her a role in the picture he is making immediately in Paris. Even though his heart now belongs to Patrice Wymore, the job is Irene's if she wants a screen career.

Barbara Stanwyck didn't know until the plane landed at Orly Airport in Paris that Mrs. Charles Lindberg had been on the trans-Atlantic crossing with her. La Stanwyck almost swooned when she got off the plane and saw Charles Lindberg waiting to greet his wife.

From Rome, Barbara writes a very amusing letter. She says:

"Can you imagine this? Bob (Taylor) has made a 'package deal' for a butler, cook and a maid for $105 a month—American money. And the cook, if you please, is the former chef of the King of Italy!"

• — • — •

Let it be said for Marlon Brando that he is certainly not trying to live up to that magazine profile on him which went out of the way to stress his bad manners.

Since Brando has been back in Hollywood, awaiting Vivien Leigh's arrival for "Streetcar Named Desire," he has been immaculately groomed and the soul of politeness to everyone.

Del Mar communique from L.O.P.: "Lucille Ball and Desi Arnaz drove down yesterday to be the guests of Dr. Mark Rabwin and his wife. Lucille is still broken hearted over the loss of her expected baby, and she'll recuperate at the home of her doctor.

"Saw Marjorie Little again yesterday and she tells me her best beau, Jimmy Durante, has a terrific television deal on the fire. He will make a flying trip to New York to sign the contract.

"Betty Grable was at the track Saturday and got a royal welcome on her first appearance this year. She looks so pretty and so thin.

"And, you can tell George Jessel for me that he is no longer the best toastmaster in the world. His boss, Joseph Schenck, attended a small dinner party and had the guests in hysterics over his wit and humor.

"There are many picture people here in Del Mar, and if I get any news, I'll send it to you—but don't expect me to work. Love—Louella."

No one has a better stand-in than Glenn Ford in "Follow the Sun." Ben Hogan will do all the long shots and close ups for the golf playing scenes.

Of course, you know this picture is based on Hogan's life, with Glenn playing the role of Ben. When they make the tournament scenes at Pebble Beach everyone is keeping his fingers crossed that Big Crosby will do a casual stroll on.

Bing gets a kick out of walking through the background of other stars pictures. He is crazy about Hogan—so he might just up and do it.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

Myrna Loy, now in Washington, is one of the few women ever invited to broadcast on "Voice of America." Myrna goes to New York next week for the radio show especially directed at the countries behind the iron curtain.

Ann Sothern, who has been dating Dick Egan, switched to Dalies Frantz as a dinner partner at the Oceanhouse. She is living at the beautiful beach hotel while her home is being redecorated.

Hedy LaMarr put her Beverly Hills home on the market for $95,000 just before she took off for New York. Her two children are summer camping in Canada again.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

SECRETS OF CHARM

by JOHN ROBERT POWERS

NOT by chance alone does any woman achieve popularity. She earns her place in her circle by developing personality characteristics that make her company a pleasure to others.

A gracious manner is high on the list of charms of every popular woman. No matter where she exercises her influence—in home, business, club, school, resort, or social life—her warm, out-giving manner is quickly recognized and wins everyone's confidence.

More Than Manners

It is not so much what she does as the manner in which she does it that marks her for what she so charmingly is—a winning woman of gracious action and word at all times.

Of course she has good manners; she extends her hand and grants her smile in greeting just like everybody else. But she takes the extra trouble to give you a welcome from her heart and mind with her eyes, voice and smile as she repeats your name in a soft, clear tone.

The gracious-mannered woman is never deliberately or thoughtlessly rude. She is horrified by the crassness of people who are curt to the delivery boy and then oversolicitious of a socially prominent friend. Her most prompt and generous attention is always accorded to anyone who performs a service for her.

Paragon Among Women

In fact, generosity is the secret of her manner. It is an awareness and consideration of others' feelings and reactions that makes the presence of this woman so desirable to everyone. Because she thinks first of others, they think first of her and consider her a paragon of women!

You may not be the most beautiful, best-dressed, or youngest woman in the room, but if you always wear a courteous manner, you will be garbed in jeweled, ageless charm.

If you wish to be popular, remember the admonition of Emerson: "Life is short but there is always time for courtesy."

It Says Here

By BOB HOPE

The heat's on. Yes, sir, we are really having a heat wave in California and everyone seems to be affected.

The radio programs are feeling the heat. The other day "Ma Perkins" followed Gabriel Heatter and had to be revived by "Young Dr. Malone".

And kids will do anything to cool off. Yesterday an ice cream vendor reached down into his freezer and uncovered four stowaways.

The hot spell has even reached into the movie studios . . . I walked on to the set and heard Humphrey Bogart say to the director: "It's too hot today . . . can't I kill Alan Ladd tomorrow?"

And Gene Autry isn't using a saddle any more . . . Of course, it will take a little time before Champion gets used to the ice-bag.

Try And Stop Me

By BENNETT CERF

On a streamliner out of Chicago I fell in with a trio of be-bop experts on their way to fill a night-club engagement in Louisville, and managed to understand almost a third of everything they had to say. The leader in particular reminded me of a character Garson Kanin loves to talk about. This exponent of rhythm in the super-modern idiom—let's call him Jones—kept himself hopped up continuously with marijuana, and when he was drafted in 1943, found himself unable to cope with army life when his supply suddenly was cut off.

As a desperate expedient, Jones decided to plant a marijuana patch around his barracks. Day after day he watered his prospering shrubs industriously and without interference. Just before they were ripe for plucking, however, the official recognition he had been dreading materialized. A full colonel strode into the area, and Jones's company was drawn up for inspection. "Private Jones," barked the colonel, "step two paces forward.

"Here's where I get it," thought Jones. The colonel eyed him sharply, then pinned a decoration on his lapel. "This medal," he explained, "is for the only man in the outfit with sufficient pride to plant a little greenery outside his barracks and tend it in his own spare time!"

MIRROR OF YOUR MIND

By LAWRENCE GOULD
Consulting Psychologist

Do quarreling parents make children neurotic?

Answer: Yes, writes Dr. Harrington V. Ingham in the American Journal of Psychiatry. A comparative study of psychoneurotic and mentally healthy students at the University of California, Los Angeles, showed that family quarrels and the mental illness of a member of the household are important factors in creating neuroses, while most other supposed causes—e. g., the loss of a parent—appear minor. Parents who remain together "for their children's sake" but cannot stop quarreling would do less harm if they separated.

Will teaching people facts change their beliefs?

Answer: Usually not, says John G. Gleason in Personnel Psychology. A survey of the attitudes of employees toward the Taft-Hartley Act conducted in a large industrial concern seemed to bear out the conviction of social psychologists that "beliefs are not readily changed by the presentation of facts." The same facts can be interpreted in so many different ways that whatever factual information anyone is given, he will manage to use or distort it so as to confirm what he already wants to believe.

Will neurosis get well without treatment?

Answer: Most leading authorities say No. If it seems to "clear up of its own accord," the reason will be either (a) that the conflicts which create it have been more successfully repressed out of consciousness for the time being, or (b) that the person's situation has changed so that there is less to aggravate them. Finding somebody to love you may at first relieve your feelings of inadequacy, but eventually you will "project" your neurotic doubts onto the other person and feel sure he or she cannot "really" love you.

Furuhashi Beats Marshall Twice, Breaks Records

Japanese Swim Ace Sets World Marks

TOKYO, Monday, Aug. 7 (AP)—Japan's Hironoshin Furuhashi cracked three of his own world swimming records and twice beat Australian John Marshall of Yale in a three-day U. S.-Japan swim which the U. S., team won, 46-17.

Furuhashi won the 800-meter freestyle race in last night's windup in 9:42.8, knocking nearly three seconds off his own world mark for the distance. Marshall finished third, four yards behind Furuhashi and one behind American Ford Konno of Hawaii.

The Japanese ace won the 400-meter freestyle Saturday in 4:33.2, or 1.4 seconds better than his own accepted world mark. Marshall finished fourth.

Furuhashi captured the 200-meter freestyle sprint Friday in 2:08.2, two-tenths of a second better than the world mark he set at Los Angeles last year. Marshall did not compete.

Furuhashi did not compete in the 1,500-meter freestyle race Friday, but Marshall did—and came in second to Konno who won the event in 18:47.2. Furuhashi covered the distance in 18:29.9 at Los Angeles last year, a mark up for consideration as a world's record. The listed mark is 19:01.6 set by F. Amano of Japan in 1938.

The U. S. team victory was climaxed with a record-breaking performance by the American 800-meter relay team Sunday night. The U. S. time of 8:42.8 bettered the world mark by 3.2 seconds.

Flam Beats Seixas For Singles Title

SOUTH ORANGE, N. J., Aug. 6 (AP) — Herb Flam of Beverly Hills, Calif., captured the eastern grass court singles championship today by defeating Vic Seixas of Philadelphia, 6-3, 6-3, 6-3.

The Californian scored his victory on a court made heavy and soggy from early morning rains. The finals were delayed four hours while the moisture could be mopped up with towels.

Doris Hart of Jacksonville, Fla., won the women's title by conquering Louise Brough of Beverly Hills, Calif., 6-4, 9-7.

Dave Douglas Tops Pro Field In A-A Tourney

Sets Pace With 141, Furgol Stroke Back

CHICAGO, Aug. 6 (AP) — Dave Douglas, son of an old-time pro from Edinburgh, Scotland, scooted into a one-stroke halfway lead in the $15,000 Tam O'Shanter All-American Pro Golf Tourney scramble today with a total of 141.

The slender, 32-year-old Douglas fashioned a steady second round 34-37—71 over the trampled par 36-36 layout which rambles 6,915 yards.

Shadowing him at 142 in the field of 89 shooters was methodical Ed Furgol of Royal Oak, Mich. He unloaded a two-under 70 with a 37 then a blistering 33, best last side of the entire meet thus far.

Sticking close to the pacesetter as the pros prepared for tomorrow's third round was Skee Riegel of Tulsa, Okla., the 1947 national amateur champion. He carved a pair of 35's for 70 and 143.

Grouped at par 155 were Sam Snead, Herman Keiser of Lima, Ohio, 26-year-old Fred Hawkins of El Paso, Tex., and long-driving Skip Alexander of Knoxville, Tenn.

Alexander, who has been off his game for nearly a year, coupled 37-34 for a 71 today. Keiser, the 1946 Augusta Masters' champion, climbed to 36-38—74.

Snead hooked 36-35—71. The Husky Hawkins, 16th behind frontrunning Snead on the money winning list and a third place finisher of the 1949 Canadian open, banged 35-37—72 to match his first round effort.

Group at 145 were Johnny Palmer of Badin, N. C., the 1949 "world" champion of the Tam Show, with 73, and two unsung pros—Tommy Bolt of Durham, N. C., and Dick Mayer of Old Greenwich, Conn. Bolt carded 72 while Mayer had 71.

Ossie Pickworth of Melbourne, Australia, the 1950 Irish Open titlist making his debut on American fairways, was bracketed with Bobby Locke, Clayton Heafner and Claude Harmon in the 146 group.

Herman Barron of White Plains, N. Y. the 1946 Tom All-American winner, authored a fine 69, best of the day, after a poor first round to total 147. With him were such contenders as Johnny Bulla, Jim Ferrier, Ed Oliver and Lloyd Mangrum.

While the pros were cavorting for a $2,500 first prize, Walker cupper Jimmy McHale, Jr., of Philadelphia and veteran Wilford Wehrle of Ormond, Fla., led a field of 28 players through the third round of the All-American amateur tourney.

McHale and Wehrle both uncorked 74's for a 54-hole tally of 219. The halfway leader, British amateur champion Frank Stranahan of Toledo, faltered with a 78 for 222. He was one stroke behind Gardner Dickinson of Louisiana State who booked 76 for 221.

The electric sparks from a cat's body when the fur is under friction are probably caused by the peculiar dryness of the hair, which is free from the oily substances common to the coats of animals.

The young of the European wild boar are marked with stripes running lengthwise along the body and of alternate dark and light tone.

It is a law of Nature that animals that walk softly are endowed with especially keen hearing, while those with a heavy step have a "dull ear."

First of the Fine Cars in Value

Even Wiser than He Seems

PLAINLY, here travels a man wise in the ways of fine motorcars.

You know that, by the four Ventiports and the rich sweep of chrome which mark his car as a ROADMASTER.

You know it, should you trail him on the highway, by the smooth lift of the big Fireball power plant at his toe's command, by the obvious levelness of the ride he enjoys, the swift ease with which Dynaflow Drive solves his traffic problems.

What is not so plain from what you see is that here also is a man very wise in what today's dollar should buy!

For this man has all that a fine-car owner can ask for—brilliant performance, a ride without equal for gentle softness, finger-easy handling, abundant room all around him, styling that is easily the most distinguished on the highway.

Yet he paid considerably less than comparable merit costs elsewhere.

He found fewer extra charges in his delivered price, with such things as Dynaflow Drive, foam rubber cushions, windshield washers, electric clock, even non-glare rear-view mirror included in the price.

If you know fine cars, it won't take fifteen minutes behind a ROADMASTER wheel to see that here is one of the finest.

If you have inquired about prices; a single glance at the delivered figures establishes this as the big buy of the field.

Why not make both checks—especially since your Buick dealer will be glad to arrange a trial run in a ROADMASTER any time you care to call on him?

Only BUICK has Dynaflow DRIVE and with it goes:

HIGHER-COMPRESSION Fireball valve-in-head power in three engines. (New F-263 engine in SUPER models.) • NEW-PATTERN STYLING, with MULTI-GUARD forefront, taper-through fenders, "double bubble" taillights • WIDE-ANGLE VISIBILITY, close-up road view both forward and back • TRAFFIC-HANDY SIZE, less over-all length for easier parking and garaging, short turning radius • EXTRA-WIDE SEATS cradled between the axles • SOFT BUICK RIDE, from all-coil springing, Safety-Ride rims, low-pressure tires, ride-steadying torque-tube • WIDE ARRAY OF MODELS with Body by Fisher.

*Standard on ROADMASTER, optional at extra cost on SUPER and SPECIAL models.

Japanese Swim Ace Sets World Marks

TOKYO, Monday, Aug. 7 (AP)—Japan's Hironoshin Furuhashi cracked three of his own world swimming records and twice beat Australian John Marshall of Yale in a three-day U. S.-Japan swim which the U. S., team won, 46-17.

Furuhashi won the 800-meter freestyle race in last night's windup in 9:42.8, knocking nearly three seconds off his own world mark for the distance. Marshall finished third, four yards behind Furuhashi and one behind American Ford Konno of Hawaii.

The Japanese ace won the 400-meter freestyle Saturday in 4:33.2, or 1.4 seconds better than his own accepted world mark. Marshall finished fourth.

Furuhashi captured the 200-meter freestyle sprint Friday in 2:08.2, two-tenths of a second better than the world mark he set at Los Angeles last year. Marshall did not compete.

Furuhashi did not compete in the 1,500-meter freestyle race Friday, but Marshall did—and came in second to Konno who won the event in 18:47.2. Furuhashi covered the distance in 18:29.9 at Los Angeles last year, a mark up for consideration as a world's record. The listed mark is 19:01.6 set by F. Amano of Japan in 1938.

The U. S. team victory was climaxed with a record-breaking performance by the American 800-meter relay team Sunday night. The U. S. time of 8:42.8 bettered the world mark by 3.2 seconds.

Flam Beats Seixas For Singles Title

SOUTH ORANGE, N. J., Aug. 6 (AP) — Herb Flam of Beverly Hills, Calif., captured the eastern grass court singles championship today by defeating Vic Seixas of Philadelphia, 6-3, 6-3, 6-3.

The Californian scored his victory on a court made heavy and soggy from early morning rains. The finals were delayed four hours while the moisture could be mopped up with towels.

Doris Hart of Jacksonville, Fla., won the women's title by conquering Louise Brough of Beverly Hills, Calif., 6-4, 9-7.

Dave Douglas Tops Pro Field In A-A Tourney

Sets Pace With 141, Furgol Stroke Back

CHICAGO, Aug. 6 (AP) — Dave Douglas, son of an old-time pro from Edinburgh, Scotland, scooted into a one-stroke halfway lead in the $15,000 Tam O'Shanter All-American Pro Golf Tourney scramble today with a total of 141.

The slender, 32-year-old Douglas fashioned a steady second round 34-37—71 over the trampled par 36-36 layout which rambles 6,915 yards.

Shadowing him at 142 in the field of 89 shooters was methodical Ed Furgol of Royal Oak, Mich. He unloaded a two-under 70 with a 37 then a blistering 33, best last side of the entire meet thus far.

Sticking close to the pacesetter as the pros prepared for tomorrow's third round was Skee Riegel of Tulsa, Okla., the 1947 national amateur champion. He carved a pair of 35's for 70 and 143.

Grouped at par 155 were Sam Snead, Herman Keiser of Lima, Ohio, 26-year-old Fred Hawkins of El Paso, Tex., and long-driving Skip Alexander of Knoxville, Tenn.

Alexander, who has been off his game for nearly a year, coupled 37-34 for a 71 today. Keiser, the 1946 Augusta Masters' champion, climbed to 36-38—74.

Snead hooked 36-35—71. The Husky Hawkins, 16th behind frontrunning Snead on the money winning list and a third place finisher of the 1949 Canadian open, banged 35-37—72 to match his first round effort.

Group at 145 were Johnny Palmer of Badin, N. C., the 1949 "world" champion of the Tam Show, with 73, and two unsung pros—Tommy Bolt of Durham, N. C., and Dick Mayer of Old Greenwich, Conn. Bolt carded 72 while Mayer had 71.

Ossie Pickworth of Melbourne, Australia, the 1950 Irish Open titlist making his debut on American fairways, was bracketed with Bobby Locke, Clayton Heafner and Claude Harmon in the 146 group.

Herman Barron of White Plains, N. Y. the 1946 Tom All-American winner, authored a fine 69, best of the day, after a poor first round to total 147. With him were such contenders as Johnny Bulla, Jim Ferrier, Ed Oliver and Lloyd Mangrum.

While the pros were cavorting for a $2,500 first prize, Walker cupper Jimmy McHale, Jr., of Philadelphia and veteran Wilford Wehrle of Ormond, Fla., led a field of 28 players through the third round of the All-American amateur tourney.

McHale and Wehrle both uncorked 74's for a 54-hole tally of 219. The halfway leader, British amateur champion Frank Stranahan of Toledo, faltered with a 78 for 222. He was one stroke behind Gardner Dickinson of Louisiana State who booked 76 for 221.

The electric sparks from a cat's body when the fur is under friction are probably caused by the peculiar dryness of the hair, which is free from the oily substances common to the coats of animals.

The young of the European wild boar are marked with stripes running lengthwise along the body and of alternate dark and light tone.

It is a law of Nature that animals that walk softly are endowed with especially keen hearing, while those with a heavy step have a "dull ear."

The bat's wing is equipped with a hook in the form of a claw. This enables it to cling to walls, rocks, etc. From this clinging position the bat takes flight. Without the hook on its wings it would be one of the most helpless of all animals.

First of the Fine Cars in Value

Even Wiser than He Seems

PLAINLY, here travels a man wise in the ways of fine motorcars.

You know that, by the four Ventiports and the rich sweep of chrome which mark his car as a ROADMASTER.

You know it, should you trail him on the highway, by the smooth lift of the big Fireball power plant at his toe's command, by the obvious levelness of the ride he enjoys, the swift ease with which Dynaflow Drive solves his traffic problems.

What is not so plain from what you see is that here also is a man very wise in what today's dollar should buy!

For this man has all that a fine-car owner can ask for—brilliant performance, a ride without equal for gentle softness, finger-easy handling, abundant room all around him, styling that is easily the most distinguished on the highway.

Yet he paid considerably less than comparable merit costs elsewhere.

He found fewer extra charges in his delivered price, with such things as Dynaflow Drive, foam rubber cushions, windshield washers, electric clock, even non-glare rear-view mirror included in the price.

If you know fine cars, it won't take fifteen minutes behind a ROADMASTER wheel to see that here is one of the finest.

If you have inquired about prices; a single glance at the delivered figures establishes this as the big buy of the field.

Why not make both checks—especially since your Buick dealer will be glad to arrange a trial run in a ROADMASTER any time you care to call on him?

Only BUICK has Dynaflow DRIVE and with it goes:

HIGHER-COMPRESSION Fireball valve-in-head power in three engines. (New F-263 engine in SUPER models.) • NEW-PATTERN STYLING, with MULTI-GUARD forefront, taper-through fenders, "double bubble" taillights • WIDE-ANGLE VISIBILITY, close-up road view both forward and back • TRAFFIC-HANDY SIZE, less over-all length for easier parking and garaging, short turning radius • EXTRA-WIDE SEATS cradled between the axles • SOFT BUICK RIDE, from all-coil springing, Safety-Ride rims, low-pressure tires, ride-steadying torque-tube • WIDE ARRAY OF MODELS with Body by Fisher.

*Standard on ROADMASTER, optional at extra cost on SUPER and SPECIAL models.

Crellin Takes Mountain Top League Lead

Defeats Accident, 3-2, Swanton Tops Oakland

Crellin took possession of first place in the Mountain Top Baseball League yesterday by nosing out Accident by the score of 3-2 at Crellin while the Swanton Dodgers were winning by the same score from the Oakland Amvets at Swanton.

The victory moved Swanton into a tie with Oakland for the runner-up berth, a half game off the pace.

Crellin spotted Accident two runs in the first frame when Charley Strauss' club knocked Foley out of the box but thereafter Sam Migliccio's relief pitching stopped the invaders in their tracks.

Migliccio chalked up his 7th win against a single loss, pitched nine innings of shutout ball, yielded six hits and fanned 19, one short of the league record. Sam whiffed 10 of the first 12 batters to face him after relieving Foley in the first with none out and two runs over the platter.

June Paugh's single tied the score at 2-2 in the third and George Stewart's base wallop sent over the deciding marker in the 6th. Ted Topper, an 8-game winner for Accident, suffered his third setback. He fanned five. Vannoy of Accident collected four of his team's nine bingles.

Swanton Stops Oakland

Swanton spotted Oakland two runs in the first six frames then staged rallies in the 8th and 9th to nose out the Amvets and knock the latter out of first place. Odell Warnick's double to right tied it up at 2-2 in the 8th and "Grumble" Michaels' single following Bobby Mitter's walk and stolen base produced the winning tally in the 9th.

Leo Rinker who replaced Benny Shaffer on the mound in the 7th got credit for the win, his 4th of the campaign. Dick Reckner paced Swanton at the plate with a double and two singles while Craver had two one-base knocks. Bob Glaze, Oakland's ace, suffered his second loss against eight triumphs.

Two Hurl 3-Hitters

Bob Buckel turned in a three-hit performance as Bittinger took Friendsville into camp on the latter's field, 13-0. The Bittinger twirler threw the third strike past an even dozen and led his team's 12-hit offensive with a double and single. Knox rapped a two-bagger for the victors.

Lyons, Kitzmiller twirler, let Terra Alta down with three hits and struck out 13 as the Vets down Terra Alta in Preston County by the score of 5-1. Jim Droppleman headed Kitzmiller's attack with a double and single and E. Burgess garnered a pair of singles. C. Hardesty with a two-bagger and single led Terra Alta. Bob Fraley of Terra Alta fanned five. Scores:

Byrne Of Yankees Blanks Cleveland

CLEVELAND, Aug. 6 (AP) — Pitcher Tommy Byrne gave up only three singles today as he shut out Cleveland, 9-0, for the New York Yankees. Billy Martin hit a homer with two on base and Phil Rizzuto drove in four other runs with a double and a triple.

The win snapped a string of nine straight wins for pitcher Bob Lemon and pushed the Yanks back into second place, a half game ahead of Cleveland.

Byrne had a no-hitter until the seventh when Bob Kennedy singled. Larry Doby and Bob Avila got the other Indian hits in the eighth and ninth. Box:

St. Louis Cardinals Take Double Bill From Phils

Boyer, Lanier Grab 7-1, 2-0 Decisions Over Miller, Church

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 6 (AP) — The St. Louis Cards halted their slide into National League oblivion today by beating the Philadelphia Phillies in both halves of a doubleheader 7 to 1 and 2 to 0.

The Cards banged out 15 hits including five by Red Schoendienst to win the opener.

They made three hits and a Phillies' error account for the winning two runs in the nightcap as Lefty Max Lanier pitched a six hit shutout.

The losses cut the Phillies' lead over second place Boston to three games.

The Cardinals had lost seven of their last nine games prior to today's doubleheader and were 6½ games off the torrid pace being set by the Phillies. But Cloyd Boyer pitched a four-hitter in the first game as his mates went base hit crazy against Bob Miller and Milo Candini.

In addition to Schoendienst's five for five, Enos Slaughter had three hits, Stan Musial walloped his 15th home run and Hal Rice, playing his first game since moving up from Rochester in the International League, made two hits and drove in a run.

Andy Seminick's homer was the only damaging blow off Boyer who won his fifth against two defeats. It was loss number three for Miller, winner of 10.

The Cards scored the winning runs in the second game off Church in the fourth inning. Schoendienst was safe when second baseman Mike Goliat fumbled his ground ball. Musial singled to right, Schoendienst stopping at second. Slaughter sacrificed and Eddie Kazak singled to score both runs. Box:

BERNE, Switzerland, Aug. 6 (AP) — Olympic Champion Bob Mathias of Stanford won the Swiss decathlon championship today with 7,312 points.

The point margin is well below the world record of 8,042 he set in the National AAU championship in June at Tulare, Calif., his home town. But it exceeds by 173 the total he scored in 10 events to win the Olympic title at London in 1948.

Mathias led Swiss champion Armin Scheurer to the finish. The Swiss scored 6,756. Davorin Marcelja of Yugoslavia placed third with 6,581. Athletes from Switzerland, Yugoslavia, Italy and Luxembourg were among the 150 contestants.

The American strong man won the 110-meter high hurdles, discus and tied Scheurer for first in the 1,500-meter run today. He placed second in the javelin and third in the pole vault.

Crellin took possession of first place in the Mountain Top Baseball League yesterday by nosing out Accident by the score of 3-2 at Crellin while the Swanton Dodgers were winning by the same score from the Oakland Amvets at Swanton.

The victory moved Swanton into a tie with Oakland for the runner-up berth, a half game off the pace.

Crellin spotted Accident two runs in the first frame when Charley Strauss' club knocked Foley out of the box but thereafter Sam Migliccio's relief pitching stopped the invaders in their tracks.

Migliccio chalked up his 7th win against a single loss, pitched nine innings of shutout ball, yielded six hits and fanned 19, one short of the league record. Sam whiffed 10 of the first 12 batters to face him after relieving Foley in the first with none out and two runs over the platter.

June Paugh's single tied the score at 2-2 in the third and George Stewart's base wallop sent over the deciding marker in the 6th. Ted Topper, an 8-game winner for Accident, suffered his third setback. He fanned five. Vannoy of Accident collected four of his team's nine bingles.

Swanton Stops Oakland

Swanton spotted Oakland two runs in the first six frames then staged rallies in the 8th and 9th to nose out the Amvets and knock the latter out of first place. Odell Warnick's double to right tied it up at 2-2 in the 8th and "Grumble" Michaels' single following Bobby Mitter's walk and stolen base produced the winning tally in the 9th.

Leo Rinker who replaced Benny Shaffer on the mound in the 7th got credit for the win, his 4th of the campaign. Dick Reckner paced Swanton at the plate with a double and two singles while Craver had two one-base knocks. Bob Glaze, Oakland's ace, suffered his second loss against eight triumphs.

Two Hurl 3-Hitters

Bob Buckel turned in a three-hit performance as Bittinger took Friendsville into camp on the latter's field, 13-0. The Bittinger twirler threw the third strike past an even dozen and led his team's 12-hit offensive with a double and single. Knox rapped a two-bagger for the victors.

Lyons, Kitzmiller twirler, let Terra Alta down with three hits and struck out 13 as the Vets down Terra Alta in Preston County by the score of 5-1. Jim Droppleman headed Kitzmiller's attack with a double and single and E. Burgess garnered a pair of singles. C. Hardesty with a two-bagger and single led Terra Alta. Bob Fraley of Terra Alta fanned five. Scores:

St. Louis Cardinals Take Double Bill From Phils

Boyer, Lanier Grab 7-1, 2-0 Decisions Over Miller, Church

PHILADELPHIA, Aug. 6 (AP) — The St. Louis Cards halted their slide into National League oblivion today by beating the Philadelphia Phillies in both halves of a doubleheader 7 to 1 and 2 to 0.

The Cards banged out 15 hits including five by Red Schoendienst to win the opener.

They made three hits and a Phillies' error account for the winning two runs in the nightcap as Lefty Max Lanier pitched a six hit shutout.

The losses cut the Phillies' lead over second place Boston to three games.

The Cardinals had lost seven of their last nine games prior to today's doubleheader and were 6½ games off the torrid pace being set by the Phillies. But Cloyd Boyer pitched a four-hitter in the first game as his mates went base hit crazy against Bob Miller and Milo Candini.

In addition to Schoendienst's five for five, Enos Slaughter had three hits, Stan Musial walloped his 15th home run and Hal Rice, playing his first game since moving up from Rochester in the International League, made two hits and drove in a run.

Andy Seminick's homer was the only damaging blow off Boyer who won his fifth against two defeats. It was loss number three for Miller, winner of 10.

The Cards scored the winning runs in the second game off Church in the fourth inning. Schoendienst was safe when second baseman Mike Goliat fumbled his ground ball. Musial singled to right, Schoendienst stopping at second. Slaughter sacrificed and Eddie Kazak singled to score both runs. Box:

Mathias Captures Decathlon Title In Switzerland

Bob Mathias

The point margin is well below the world record of 8,042 he set in the National AAU championship in June at Tulare, Calif., his home town. But it exceeds by 173 the total he scored in 10 events to win the Olympic title at London in 1948.

Mathias led Swiss champion Armin Scheurer to the finish. The Swiss scored 6,756. Davorin Marcelja of Yugoslavia placed third with 6,581. Athletes from Switzerland, Yugoslavia, Italy and Luxembourg were among the 150 contestants.

The American strong man won the 110-meter high hurdles, discus and tied Scheurer for first in the 1,500-meter run today. He placed second in the javelin and third in the pole vault.

Giants Shut Out Pittsburgh Twice

NEW YORK, Aug. 6 (AP) — Larry Jansen and Sal Maglie hurled the New York Giants to 5-0 and 3-0 victories over Pittsburgh today to make it three straight shutouts over the Pirates. Jim Hearn blanked the Pirates, 5-0, on one hit yesterday. Jansen stopped the Bucs on five hits while Maglie allowed seven.

The Giants now have won six in a row and 15 out of their last 16 games.

Home runs by Monte Irvin and Whitey Lockman featured a 10-hit New York attack off Bill Werle and Bill Pierro in the opener, with southpaw Werle getting charged with his ninth defeat. The victory was Jansen's 13th.

The second game found Murry Dickson and Maglie locked in a scoreless tie for five innings. But in the sixth Eddie Stanky walked to lead off for the Giants, took second on Lockman's infield out and tallied on Don Mueller's single to break the deadlock. Box:

Everett Stops Reds As Romney Returns To Top

Allen Bags Tenth, 9-8; Everett 10-9 Winner

Tommy Allen pitched the Romney Rockets back into first place in the Interstate Baseball League when he gained a 9-8 verdict over the Cumberland Loyal Order of Moose tossers at Stitcher Field.

In the meantime Everett was knocking Centerville off the top rung by topping the Reds to the tune of 10-9 at Everett.

The day's third contest saw the Hyndman VFW measure the last place Ridgeley American Legion, 5-4, to make it three games decided by the margin of a single tally.

Allen, incidentally, became the first 10-game winner of the season in the Interstate League as he outlasted the Moose trio of Norm Geatz, Jack Kauffman and Bob Lookabaugh. The Romney twirler fanned seven to up his season's total to 120.

Blaine Turner and Dick McElwee paced the Romney clubbers with three hits each, one of Turner's blows being good for three bases. Mickey Clark and Charley Cumiskey led the home team, sharing six of the Moose nine's 12 safeties. The local mound trio fanned eight. Geatz was charged with the loss.

Everett Halts Reds

Everett's infield pulled three double plays and Jim Kline, of Hopewell, Pa., making his first start for Everett in the role of relief pitcher, kept the Reds pretty well under control after the 4th inning to receive credit for the triumph.

Manager Marty Dishong homered with one on in the 6th and also rapped a single. Boyd Foor hit safely three times in four trips and Jack Skipper got two for four, including a two-run homer during Everett's 6-run outburst in the first stanza. Deremer of Centerville helped himself to a triple and three singles. Glen Deremer who supplanted Ronnie Sisk in the 1st was charged with the loss—the Reds' first in 10 games.

Hyndman Wins In Ninth

Hyndman rallied for two runs in the last of the 9th to nose out Ridgeley. Bob Miller's triple drove in the tying run and Bob Bryant's single sent over the deciding marker.

Miller was Hyndman's big hitter with a triple and pair of singles in five trips. Emerick and Bryant had two safeties each. Manges and Reynolds topped the Ridgeley swatsmiths with two blows each. Wertz tripled in the top of the 9th and scored the tying run on an outfield fly by Birmingham.

In the Interstate League's All-Star game Saturday at Hyndman, the Pennsylvania combination downed the West Virginia team, 6-5. Scores:

Middlekamp Wins City Singles Title For Third Straight Year

Defeats Bernstein, Cops Little Trophy

Lawrence Middlekamp defeated Maurice Bernstein yesterday afternoon on the County Club courts in the finals of the men's singles for the City tennis championship, in straight sets, 6-2, 6-4, 6-2.

This is the third consecutive year Middlekamp has won this tournament. Four years ago he was defeated by Homer Lowenberg for the city championship.

Winning this year, the third time gives him permanent possession of the S. T. Little Jewelry Company three-year trophy.

One more local tournament will be played this year, the Allegany County championship, which starts Saturday, August 19th. Last year Maurice Bernstein won the county tournament.

Dizzy Trout Blanks Nats By Score 4-0

Bearden Loses First Start For Washington

DETROIT, Aug. 6 (AP) — The veteran Dizzy Trout blanked the Washington Senators 4-0 on a seven-hitter today to boost the Detroit Tigers American League lead to three games over second-place New York.

It was the fourth straight win for the bespectacled 35-year-old Trout and came at the expense of Gene Bearden, who was making his first start for the Senators after being purchased from Cleveland.

Bearden gave up only eight hits but four walks and a wild pitch kept him in hot water as the Tigers spread their scoring over three innings.

Trout drove in what proved to be the winning run as he singled Johnny Groth home in the second after Groth had singled and taken second on a passed ball. Box:

The Inside Story Of The Man On The Pogo Stick

FOR the last ten years, Ralph Edwards, the emcee of "Truth Or Consequences," has been getting people to drive golf balls across the country or to get in bed with a seal at the corner of Hollywood and Vine or to get dunked in a tank of water. Why do people submit voluntarily to these indignities?

John Crosby

This question has baffled a lot of people, including this one, and the other day, when Mr. Edwards blew into town, he was asked to explain it in his own way.

"Our show has a keen insight into the taste of America," explained Mr. E., who at thirty-three is one of the youngest toupee wearers on the air. "It's the kind of show that could easily go off key. To use a four-bit word, it could have its empathy destroyed, if we didn't know exactly how far you can go. We have a perfect feeling between the artists—you should excuse the expression—and the audience.

"We have a husband and wife in the act, say. One pushes a pie in the other's face. But the important thing is that it all works out well in the end. The audience has to feel that the husband and wife got together again before it's over. It can't just be one of them pulling a gag on the other."

As for the man in the bed with a seal at Hollywood and Vine, Edwards telephoned his preacher, his boss, and his wife and dispatched them to that celebrated corner. In turn, they walked by, stared and explain without forfeiting his money.

"We had him groveling," Edwards admitted, "but it was all right with the audience because they knew it had been explained to the preacher and the boss that it was all a gag. People worry about gags involving anyone's boss. They wouldn't like it a bit if the boss wasn't in on it.

"The contestant was ready to kill us. But afterwards we reveal all. In the handling of any contestant you get a man to the point where he can be made a fool of — but you keep on top of it by your attitude. The kidding department, for instance. We keep saying 'Aren't we devils?' or 'Aren't we angels?' which is a switch for when we do something nice. Then — the important thing—we tell 'em in the end 'Don't worry. It's all a joke."

How, Mr. Edwards was asked, do you find people who have time to hit a golf ball across the country? Well, in that case, they sent tickets to golf clubs to be sure they'd get a golfer. When the audience is assembled, Edwards asks: "Who's free for a week?" If it's a strenuous assignment — such as that golfing chore — he asks: "Where's a big, rugged guy who's free for a week.

When a likely prospect is flushed from the audience, he is interviewed and watched like a hawk in an effort to determine whether he is capable of handling the stunt, whether he will do it to the bitter end, wheher he'll be a good sport about it. "You have to be a public relations man, a personnel man, and a psychology major which I'm not. Even then, don't let anyone tell you you can pick a good contestant everytime."

How do you prevent the contestant from quitting in disgust after the initial enthusiasm passes. Edwards groaned: "What goes on off the show is four times as much work and of greater importance than the show itself. You send a man off to hit a golf ball from Los Angeles to Truth Or Consequences, N. M. Well, you send him off with great fanfare. Then you have to keep it on that level. We know he's going through Phoenix so we arrange with the Phoenix Chamber of Commerce for a golf match between our contestant and eighteen C. of C. men. Our man is a good golfer — or we wouldn't have picked him in the first place — and he beats everyone and that makes him feel fine. He's accompanied by a car and trailer and he has his choice of sleeping in the trailer or in hotels. A chauffeur, who has to be a diplomat, goes along and keeps an eye on him. If he looks as if he's tiring, the chauffeur tells him to take it easy."

Edwards hasn't killed any contestants yet and he doesn't want to. One man had to race an airplane twenty miles, from the Los Angeles airport to City Hall on a pogo stick. First, Edward's had the man's heart checked to be sure he was up to it.

"He got to be so good on that pogo stick," said Edwards, "he could have gone on to New York. He did the last mile without ever getting off the thing. He'd stop at red lights and bounce up and down. He beat the airplane (which took a circuitous route) by a day and a half."

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Quotation

By Galbraith

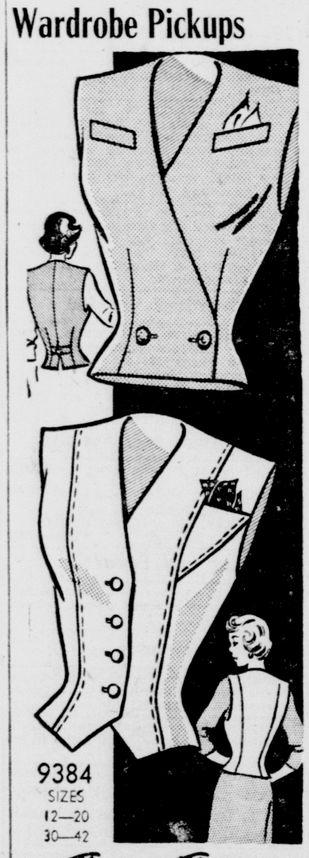

"Nearly all the boys have gone, but my parents stay on and on at this dumb vacation resort — won't they ever learn anything about life?"

Sugar Shortage?

CHARLEROI, Pa., Aug. 6 (AP) — There's no sugar shortage here and the Gysegem Bakery aims to prove it. With every dollar purchase the store gives away a pound of sugar.

The American Red Cross was organized in Washington in May, 1881.

DAILY CRYPTOQUOTE—Here's how to work it:

A X Y D L B A A X R
is L O N G F E L L O W

One letter simply stands for another. In this example A is used for the three L's, X for the two O's, etc. Single letters, apostrophies, the length and formation of the words are all hints. Each day the code letters are different.

A Cryptogram Quotation

D B L P Y P U P B J Z P M T W L P M J V U W M
M B A Z P K; N P P Q Y P G B J Z N W W Q A W U-
L P U B P U J N W M Y P — T M W L P M R K.

Saturday's Cryptoquote: TRUTH FOR EVER ON THE SCAFFOLD, WRONG FOR EVER ON THE THRONE—LOWELL.

Mr. Witwer was a 32nd Degree Mason, was active in Republican politics and was a member of the Methodist Church, belonging to Centre Street Church while residing here.

A service was held Wednesday from a Gary funeral home with burial in Calumet Cemetery there.

Besides Mrs. Richards, he is survived by his wife; another daughter, Kathryn Witwer, noted opera singer who is a member of the music staff of DePaul University, Chicago, and Samuel Witwer, Chicago attorney, who is serving on a selected Illinois committee active in revising the state constitution for presentation to the legislature.

CHARLES W. LASHORN

Charles W. Lashorn, of LaVale, died at 6:45 p.m. Saturday in Memorial Hospital an hour after being admitted.

Mr. Lashorn had moved to LaVale two days ago after living several years at 214 Pulaski Street.

Mr. Lashorn was, at one time, a well-known athlete. He was captain of Piedmont High School's 1916 basketball team which scored a shutout over the old Allegany County Academy team of Cumberland. In that game Lashorn scored 50 points, making 22 field goals and six foul shots. He also starred on independent baseball teams in the area for a number of years.

Mr. Lashorn is survived by his wife, the former Miss Alice Harden; two daughters, Mrs. Charles Young, Paterson, N. J., and Mrs. Robert Kuhlman, this city, and two sons, Charles J. Lashorn, Jr., Kansas City, Mo., and Robert J. Lashorn, Detroit.

VIRGINIA E. O'DONNELL

Virginia Edith O'Donnell, eight-year-old granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Bowman, Cresaptown, died Friday of injuries sustained when she fell near a playground in Connellsville, Pa.

The child stepped on the running board of a car Thursday night and the driver apparently failed to notice her. When he started the motor she jumped off and struck her head on a curb.

After the accident, the girl walked home with a sister, Patricia, and went to bed. Later her parents, Paul and Virginia Bowman O'Donnell, noticed her breathing had quickened and she lapsed into a coma. Death was attributed to a brain concussion.

Born February 14, 1942, in Washington, D. C., the child moved to Connellsville four years ago with her parents.

Also surviving are two brothers, John and Joseph O'Donnell, and another sister, Anna O'Donnell, at home, and her paternal grandmother, Mrs. Anna O'Donnell, Connellsville.

A service will be held today at 8:30 a. m. in Connellsville. Burial will take place in St. Joseph's Cemetery there.

Mr. and Mrs. Bowman were called to Connellsville as a result of the child's death.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

SLAM NOT CONSIDERED

EXTREMELY vigorous bidding by one of your opponents can make it clear to both you and your partner that a slam by your side would be clearly impossible. If, during the high bidding late in the auction, you then bid the opponents' best suit, it should be patent to a good partner that slam is not being considered, hence that you are not showing lack of losers in that suit and asking your partner to cue-bid his first-round controls. That is especially true if your side had not yet shown nor indicated a fitting suit. So, what does such a bid of the hostile suit mean?

	♠ K J 9 8 5 4 ♥ None ♦ A 10 8 5 4 2 ♣ 3
♠ A 10 6 ♥ K Q 9 ♦ 6 3 2 ♣ None	N W E S	♠ 7 3 ♥ J 8 4 ♦ J 9 7 3 ♣ J 10 9 5
	♠ Q 2 ♥ A 10 7 5 ♦ K Q 6 ♣ K 7 6 4

(Dealer: West. Neither side vulnerable.)

West	North	East	South
1 ♥	1 ♠	Pass	1 NT
2 ♥	3 ♦	Pass	3 NT
4 ♣	4 ♦	Pass	(?)

What would you bid on your third turn, if you were South? North's bidding of spades first, then diamonds, then diamonds a second time, showed of course that he had at least five cards in each of his suits. You would want a game, naturally, with your strength. But you would fear that five-odd might not be in the cards, whereas four-odd might. So you would be a bit afraid to put the side into 5-Diamonds. At the same time, you would be afraid to hazard 4-Spades. West had shown such length in two other suits that the spades might be bunched against your side in the East.

While thinking along those lines, South got an inspiration. Over North's 4-Diamonds he bid 4-Hearts, his opponent's best suit.

North got the idea exactly. He knew that could not be a slam try, after reflecting on the bidding. It therefore was an effort to make him, North, bid again, to give more distributional information. South apparently was trying to find out if North's spade suit was longer than five cards. It was. So he bid 4-Spades after West made a perfunctory double of the 4-Hearts. If North had held only five in each suit, he would have passed the double to let South choose the spot. Obviously the spade game was made, whereas 5-Diamonds would have been beaten with the same three tricks lost at spades.

Tomorrow's Problem

	♠ A 3 ♥ 9 ♦ Q J 9 7 3 ♣ A K J 8 7

(Dealer: South. North-South vulnerable.)

If South bids 1-Diamond, West 1-Heart, North doubles and East passes, what should South do?

Former Bank Official To Be Paroled Today

NEW YORK, Aug. 6 (AP)—Richard H. Crowe, 41, bank official sentenced last year to three years in prison for embezzling $833,660, will be released on parole tomorrow, his wife said tonight.

Crowe was subject to a possible 45-year sentence and a $30,000 fine, but a federal court gave him the comparatively mild sentence because he cooperated in helping the government recover all but $5,950.65 of the plunder.

Chiang's Air Force Destroys 130 Junks

TAIPEI, Formosa, Aug. 6. (AP)—Destruction of 30 big junks and more than 100 smaller ones in raids on communist shipping near Quemoy island was announced tonight by the Chinese Nationalist air force.

It said the attacks, carried out all day Sunday in fine weather, were directed against 800 red vessels assembled near Quemoy, a Nationalist outpost island just off the communist mainland.

Both bombers and fighters with rockets participated. All returning safely despite antiaircraft fire, the communique said.

The attacks presumably are considered by the United States to fall within a defensive category, thus escaping President Truman's ban on Nationalist action against the communist mainland.

Delinquents Warned

NEW YORK, Aug. 6 (AP) — The Federal Bureau of Investigation tonight warned draft delinquents to comply with the Selective Service Act or face possible prison terms.

Hagerstown Soldier Killed In Korean War

HAGERSTOWN, Md., Aug. 6 (AP)—Mrs. Elsie Zirkle said she was notified by telegram today that her son, Pfc. Jack A. Zirkle, 19, had been killed in action in Korea.

He was the first Washington County soldier to die in the Korean conflict.

Mrs. Zirkle said she was informed that her son was killed July 27. He was serving with the First Cavalry Division.

Shells Slightly Damage U. S. Ship At Hong Kong

HONG KONG, Aug. 6 (AP)—Five small shells were fired at the American freighter Steel Rover today near the entrance to Hong Kong harbor.

Gilman and Co., agents for the 8,089-ton Isthmian Line ship, said some splinters damaged the hull slightly above the waterline but repairs would be unnecessary.

They said the shells were believed to have been fired from two nearby junks but could have come from the Chinese Communist mainland adjoining this British colony.

Plans Get Underway

the fort put in condition to accommodate 200 men and announced it should be named Fort Cumberland in honor of the Duke of Cumberland.

Col. Innes directed the erection of Fort Cumberland during the winter of 1754-1755.

One of the best descriptions of Fort Cumberland, Lowdermilk said, was given by Jesse Korns, of Cumberland, who fixed the eastern boundary of the fort at some 40 feet east of Emmanuel Episcopal Church and the western boundary at Prospect Square.

Guns Guard Area

Most of the fort, he said, was palisades, built of 18 foot logs set about six feet deep, spiked together with strips and pins on the inner side, and pierced with openings for musket fire.

The fort at the west end of the stockade was supplied with bastians, a parapet and ditches and was supplied with 16 guns to guard the north, west and southern approaches.

The entire fortifications were about 400 feet long and about 160 feet wide.

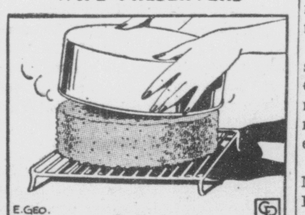

The fort proper, Lowdermilk said, occupied almost the exact spot on which the old Hoye Mansion, now the First Church of Christ, Scientist, stands.

Virtually the only parts of the fortifications still in existence are a restoration of Washington's headquarters, now located in Riverside Park, and the old tunnels beneath Emmanuel Episcopal Church.

Sol Bloom, chairman for the Washington bicentennial in 1932, called Cumberland the military birthplace of Washington.

It was from his Fort Cumberland headquarters that he learned the art of soldiering and it was here, when he reviewed troops called up to suppress the "Whiskey Rebellion" that he made his last appearance as a military commander in the field.

Woman's Husband, Two Sons, Brother Serving In Korea

HAGERSTOWN, Md., Aug. 6 (AP)—Mrs. Lewis Hose has four good reasons for being concerned about the war in Korea.

All four enlisted together in January of 1948.

The husband, and his two stepsons, Bob and Fred Smith, had been serving in Korea several months before the outbreak of fighting. Leroy Cauffman, the brother, was sent to Korea from Japan shortly after hostilities got underway. All are corporals.

One Killed, Six Hurt In Automobile Crash

UPPER MARLBORO, Md., Aug. 6 (AP)—Frank Joseph Privatera, Washington, a World War II veteran, was killed and eight persons were injured when two automobiles collided near here today.

Privatera, 25, was pronounced dead at the scene by Dr. James I. Boyd, Prince Georges County medical examiner.

The injured were rushed to Washington hospitals in ambulances. Billy Holly, 16, Washington, was taken to Casualty Hospital, where he was reported in critical condition. He suffered a fractured skull, hospital officials said.

James Harrison, 41, Baltimore, was reported in a very serious condition at Freedmen's Hospital. He suffered compound factures of both legs and cuts and bruises.

Davis Mum On Request He Quit Governor Race

BALTIMORE, Aug. 6 (AP)—State Sen. Roy Tasco Davis declined to comment today on a request that he withdraw from the race for the Republican nomination for governor.

The request that the Montgomery Countian withdraw from the Republican primary contest was announced Saturday by the Republican Activities Committee of Maryland.

A Davis withdrawal would give the Republican nomination to Theodore R. McKeldin, former mayor of Baltimore, who is the only other aspirant for the nomination.

2nd Army Area Reserve Quota Set At 6,000

FORT MEADE, Md., Aug. 6 (AP)—An initial quota of more than 6,000 enlisted reservists has been set for the seven states in the Second Army area to reinforce units already ordered into training.

The quota is to be met from Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia, Delaware, Pennsylvania, Kentucky and Ohio. But a Second Army spokesman said yesterday the requirement for each state will not be known until after August 15.

U.S.I. And Dutch Soldiers Clash

JAKARTA, U. S. I., Aug. 6 (AP) — Fighting flared between Indonesian soldiers and native Dutch army troops in Macassar early today, causing some deaths. Urgent pleas from both Dutch and Indonesian military commanders asked an end to the "senseless bloodshed."

The situation in the southwestern Celebes port is confused, Indonesian Defense Minister Sultan Hamengku Buwono said after an emergency meeting with Dutch authorities here tonight.

The latest outbreak added to the headaches of the fledgling United States of Indonesia, whose emergence as a new independent nation has been accompanied by unrest and violence in parts of the rich island territory. It apparently was sufficiently serious to cause federal authorities to shift attention, for the moment, from spreading rebel operations in the Amboina area, east of the Celebes in the Indonesian island necklace.

The Dutch military commander in Indonesia, Maj. Gen. Scheffelaer, and the commander of the federal forces engaged in operations against rebels on Amboina, Col. Kawilarang, were to fly to Macassar Monday for intervention. This decision followed a conference tonight in the defense minister's home of Dutch and Indonesian military and civilian officials, including the Netherlands high commissioner, Dr. Hans M. Hirschfeld.

Robinson-Fusari Clash Wednesday

NEW YORK, Aug. 6 (AP) — Ray Robinson will defend his welterweight title against Charlie Fusari at Jersey City Wednesday in the top fight attraction of the week.

It is the first crack at the welter crown for the Irvington, N. J., milkman and he is rated little chance of defeating the champion.

Lightweight Champion Ike Williams takes on Charlie Salas of Phoenix, Ariz., in Washington's Griffith Stadium Monday night. The 10-round bout is a non-title match.

Hiroshima Marks Bomb Anniversary

HIROSHIMA, Japan, Aug. 6. (AP)—Hiroshima, with special religious services, today marked the fifth anniversary of its atom bomb blasting.

The commemoration was not called a "peace festival," as in past years.

City authorities said they learned in advance that Japanese communists were planning to link the peace festival idea with the communists' Stockholm peace campaign. The officials decided to call today's ceremonies simply memorials.

Sirens sounded at 9:15 a. m., Japan daylight time, the hour the bomb exploded over the city five years ago.

The former general superintendent of the N. and G. Taylor Company tin plate mill here until 1926 died on the eve of his 56th wedding anniversary.

He was born in Pennsylvania and began his career in steel at Pueblo, Colo. as a laborer in the Colorado Fuel and Iron Works. He moved to Gary in 1910 and rose to be foreman of No. 3 open hearth at the Gary Steel Works. Mr. Witwer left this position to run the tin mill here.

Mr. Witwer was a 32nd Degree Mason, was active in Republican politics and was a member of the Methodist Church, belonging to Centre Street Church while residing here.

A service was held Wednesday from a Gary funeral home with burial in Calumet Cemetery there.

Besides Mrs. Richards, he is survived by his wife; another daughter, Kathryn Witwer, noted opera singer who is a member of the music staff of DePaul University, Chicago, and Samuel Witwer, Chicago attorney, who is serving on a selected Illinois committee active in revising the state constitution for presentation to the legislature.

CHARLES W. LASHORN

Charles W. Lashorn, of LaVale, died at 6:45 p.m. Saturday in Memorial Hospital an hour after being admitted.

Mr. Lashorn had moved to LaVale two days ago after living several years at 214 Pulaski Street.

Mr. Lashorn was, at one time, a well-known athlete. He was captain of Piedmont High School's 1916 basketball team which scored a shutout over the old Allegany County Academy team of Cumberland. In that game Lashorn scored 50 points, making 22 field goals and six foul shots. He also starred on independent baseball teams in the area for a number of years.

Mr. Lashorn is survived by his wife, the former Miss Alice Harden; two daughters, Mrs. Charles Young, Paterson, N. J., and Mrs. Robert Kuhlman, this city, and two sons, Charles J. Lashorn, Jr., Kansas City, Mo., and Robert J. Lashorn, Detroit.

VIRGINIA E. O'DONNELL

Virginia Edith O'Donnell, eight-year-old granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Bowman, Cresaptown, died Friday of injuries sustained when she fell near a playground in Connellsville, Pa.

The child stepped on the running board of a car Thursday night and the driver apparently failed to notice her. When he started the motor she jumped off and struck her head on a curb.

After the accident, the girl walked home with a sister, Patricia, and went to bed. Later her parents, Paul and Virginia Bowman O'Donnell, noticed her breathing had quickened and she lapsed into a coma. Death was attributed to a brain concussion.

Born February 14, 1942, in Washington, D. C., the child moved to Connellsville four years ago with her parents.

Also surviving are two brothers, John and Joseph O'Donnell, and another sister, Anna O'Donnell, at home, and her paternal grandmother, Mrs. Anna O'Donnell, Connellsville.

A service will be held today at 8:30 a. m. in Connellsville. Burial will take place in St. Joseph's Cemetery there.

Mr. and Mrs. Bowman were called to Connellsville as a result of the child's death.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

SLAM NOT CONSIDERED

EXTREMELY vigorous bidding by one of your opponents can make it clear to both you and your partner that a slam by your side would be clearly impossible. If, during the high bidding late in the auction, you then bid the opponents' best suit, it should be patent to a good partner that slam is not being considered, hence that you are not showing lack of losers in that suit and asking your partner to cue-bid his first-round controls. That is especially true if your side had not yet shown nor indicated a fitting suit. So, what does such a bid of the hostile suit mean?

(Dealer: West. Neither side vulnerable.)

West	North	East	South
1 ♥	1 ♠	Pass	1 NT
2 ♥	3 ♦	Pass	3 NT
4 ♣	4 ♦	Pass	(?)

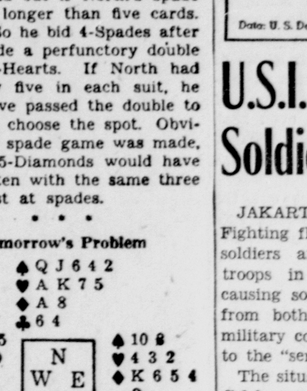

What would you bid on your third turn, if you were South? North's bidding of spades first, then diamonds, then diamonds a second time, showed of course that he had at least five cards in each of his suits. You would want a game, naturally, with your strength. But you would fear that five-odd might not be in the cards, whereas four-odd might. So you would be a bit afraid to put the side into 5-Diamonds. At the same time, you would be afraid to hazard 4-Spades. West had shown such length in two other suits that the spades might be bunched against your side in the East.

While thinking along those lines, South got an inspiration. Over North's 4-Diamonds he bid 4-Hearts, his opponent's best suit.

North got the idea exactly. He knew that could not be a slam try, after reflecting on the bidding. It therefore was an effort to make him, North, bid again, to give more distributional information. South apparently was trying to find out if North's spade suit was longer than five cards. It was. So he bid 4-Spades after West made a perfunctory double of the 4-Hearts. If North had held only five in each suit, he would have passed the double to let South choose the spot. Obviously the spade game was made, whereas 5-Diamonds would have been beaten with the same three tricks lost at spades.

Tomorrow's Problem

(Dealer: South. North-South vulnerable.)

If South bids 1-Diamond, West 1-Heart, North doubles and East passes, what should South do?

Former Bank Official To Be Paroled Today

NEW YORK, Aug. 6 (AP)—Richard H. Crowe, 41, bank official sentenced last year to three years in prison for embezzling $833,660, will be released on parole tomorrow, his wife said tonight.

Crowe was subject to a possible 45-year sentence and a $30,000 fine, but a federal court gave him the comparatively mild sentence because he cooperated in helping the government recover all but $5,950.65 of the plunder.

Chiang's Air Force Destroys 130 Junks

TAIPEI, Formosa, Aug. 6. (AP)—Destruction of 30 big junks and more than 100 smaller ones in raids on communist shipping near Quemoy island was announced tonight by the Chinese Nationalist air force.

It said the attacks, carried out all day Sunday in fine weather, were directed against 800 red vessels assembled near Quemoy, a Nationalist outpost island just off the communist mainland.

Both bombers and fighters with rockets participated. All returning safely despite antiaircraft fire, the communique said.

The attacks presumably are considered by the United States to fall within a defensive category, thus escaping President Truman's ban on Nationalist action against the communist mainland.

Delinquents Warned

NEW YORK, Aug. 6 (AP) — The Federal Bureau of Investigation tonight warned draft delinquents to comply with the Selective Service Act or face possible prison terms.

Hagerstown Soldier Killed In Korean War

HAGERSTOWN, Md., Aug. 6 (AP)—Mrs. Elsie Zirkle said she was notified by telegram today that her son, Pfc. Jack A. Zirkle, 19, had been killed in action in Korea.

He was the first Washington County soldier to die in the Korean conflict.

Mrs. Zirkle said she was informed that her son was killed July 27. He was serving with the First Cavalry Division.

Shells Slightly Damage U. S. Ship At Hong Kong

HONG KONG, Aug. 6 (AP)—Five small shells were fired at the American freighter Steel Rover today near the entrance to Hong Kong harbor.

Gilman and Co., agents for the 8,089-ton Isthmian Line ship, said some splinters damaged the hull slightly above the waterline but repairs would be unnecessary.

They said the shells were believed to have been fired from two nearby junks but could have come from the Chinese Communist mainland adjoining this British colony.

Plans Get Underway

the fort put in condition to accommodate 200 men and announced it should be named Fort Cumberland in honor of the Duke of Cumberland.

Col. Innes directed the erection of Fort Cumberland during the winter of 1754-1755.

One of the best descriptions of Fort Cumberland, Lowdermilk said, was given by Jesse Korns, of Cumberland, who fixed the eastern boundary of the fort at some 40 feet east of Emmanuel Episcopal Church and the western boundary at Prospect Square.

Guns Guard Area

Most of the fort, he said, was palisades, built of 18 foot logs set about six feet deep, spiked together with strips and pins on the inner side, and pierced with openings for musket fire.

The fort at the west end of the stockade was supplied with bastians, a parapet and ditches and was supplied with 16 guns to guard the north, west and southern approaches.

The entire fortifications were about 400 feet long and about 160 feet wide.

The fort proper, Lowdermilk said, occupied almost the exact spot on which the old Hoye Mansion, now the First Church of Christ, Scientist, stands.

Virtually the only parts of the fortifications still in existence are a restoration of Washington's headquarters, now located in Riverside Park, and the old tunnels beneath Emmanuel Episcopal Church.

Sol Bloom, chairman for the Washington bicentennial in 1932, called Cumberland the military birthplace of Washington.

It was from his Fort Cumberland headquarters that he learned the art of soldiering and it was here, when he reviewed troops called up to suppress the "Whiskey Rebellion" that he made his last appearance as a military commander in the field.

Woman's Husband, Two Sons, Brother Serving In Korea

HAGERSTOWN, Md., Aug. 6 (AP)—Mrs. Lewis Hose has four good reasons for being concerned about the war in Korea.

Her husband, two sons and a brother all are with the Army there.

All four enlisted together in January of 1948.

The husband, and his two stepsons, Bob and Fred Smith, had been serving in Korea several months before the outbreak of fighting. Leroy Cauffman, the brother, was sent to Korea from Japan shortly after hostilities got underway. All are corporals.

One Killed, Six Hurt In Automobile Crash

UPPER MARLBORO, Md., Aug. 6 (AP)—Frank Joseph Privatera, Washington, a World War II veteran, was killed and eight persons were injured when two automobiles collided near here today.

Privatera, 25, was pronounced dead at the scene by Dr. James I. Boyd, Prince Georges County medical examiner.

The injured were rushed to Washington hospitals in ambulances. Billy Holly, 16, Washington, was taken to Casualty Hospital, where he was reported in critical condition. He suffered a fractured skull, hospital officials said.

James Harrison, 41, Baltimore, was reported in a very serious condition at Freedmen's Hospital. He suffered compound factures of both legs and cuts and bruises.

Davis Mum On Request He Quit Governor Race

BALTIMORE, Aug. 6 (AP)—State Sen. Roy Tasco Davis declined to comment today on a request that he withdraw from the race for the Republican nomination for governor.

The request that the Montgomery Countian withdraw from the Republican primary contest was announced Saturday by the Republican Activities Committee of Maryland.

A Davis withdrawal would give the Republican nomination to Theodore R. McKeldin, former mayor of Baltimore, who is the only other aspirant for the nomination.

2nd Army Area Reserve Quota Set At 6,000

The quota is to be met from Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia, Delaware, Pennsylvania, Kentucky and Ohio. But a Second Army spokesman said yesterday the requirement for each state will not be known until after August 15.

U.S.I. And Dutch Soldiers Clash

JAKARTA, U. S. I., Aug. 6 (AP) — Fighting flared between Indonesian soldiers and native Dutch army troops in Macassar early today, causing some deaths. Urgent pleas from both Dutch and Indonesian military commanders asked an end to the "senseless bloodshed."

The situation in the southwestern Celebes port is confused, Indonesian Defense Minister Sultan Hamengku Buwono said after an emergency meeting with Dutch authorities here tonight.

The latest outbreak added to the headaches of the fledgling United States of Indonesia, whose emergence as a new independent nation has been accompanied by unrest and violence in parts of the rich island territory. It apparently was sufficiently serious to cause federal authorities to shift attention, for the moment, from spreading rebel operations in the Amboina area, east of the Celebes in the Indonesian island necklace.

The Dutch military commander in Indonesia, Maj. Gen. Scheffelaer, and the commander of the federal forces engaged in operations against rebels on Amboina, Col. Kawilarang, were to fly to Macassar Monday for intervention. This decision followed a conference tonight in the defense minister's home of Dutch and Indonesian military and civilian officials, including the Netherlands high commissioner, Dr. Hans M. Hirschfeld.

Hiroshima Marks Bomb Anniversary

HIROSHIMA, Japan, Aug. 6. (AP)—Hiroshima, with special religious services, today marked the fifth anniversary of its atom bomb blasting.

The commemoration was not called a "peace festival," as in past years.

City authorities said they learned in advance that Japanese communists were planning to link the peace festival idea with the communists' Stockholm peace campaign. The officials decided to call today's ceremonies simply memorials.

Sirens sounded at 9:15 a. m., Japan daylight time, the hour the bomb exploded over the city five years ago.

Air Circus Spectators Get Extra Thrills

Hot-Air Balloon Falls On Stunter

The approximately 3,500 spectators at the Cumberland Air Show yesterday at the Municipal Airport received a few unscheduled thrills in addition to those provided by the air circus.

A high wind, only marring feature of yesterday's weather, caused the collapse of a large balloon and slight injuries to Eddie Allen, 55, one of the world's oldest active balloonists and parachute jumpers.

Lewis J. Ort, general chairman of the show, said the efforts of approximately 300 persons failed to keep the balloon on an even keel. It collapsed over Allen and the hot air mechanism with which it was being inflated.

Allen manager to put out the flames under the mechanism, suffering only burns on the hands, Ort added.

Plane Damaged

The specially-rigged stunt plane which replaced one wrecked in a crash Wednesday at the airport suffered damage during one of the acts, according to Ort.

The plane, piloted by Ben Huntley, one of the performers in Deaton's Air Circus, Charlotte, N. C., who presented the 12-act show, was engaged in a radio-control stunt when one of its wings slammed into the ground. Huntley managed to get the ship back into the air, however.

Spectators gasped when Don Edwards, human batman, went into a tailspin with his "wings" while making a 5,000-foot jump. Ort said the stunter had planned to drop to 500 feet before using his parachute, but the spin caused him to open the chute at 1,000 feet.

Three jet fighters from Andrews Field "buzzed" the field for about 15 minutes yesterday. Ort said they were the first Army planes to appear in an air show since the outbreak of hostilities in Korea.

$300 For Fund

He added that $300 will go to the Allegany County League for Crippled Children as a result of the show.

Aiding Ort and Warren Mullenax, airport manager, were Emmett Callin, Vance Goldsworthy, Thomas Beatty, Everett Sponaugle, Sam Cunningham, Franklin H. Young, Jack Craynor, Derr Golladay, Berkey Smith, Frank Ellis.

Paul DeMoss, Bob Mullenax, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Simpson, James Loar, George Ruhl, Jack Seifarth, Jack Stark and Mr. and Mrs. Frank McMillan.

The Wiley Ford, W. Va., Volunteer Fire Department was in charge of parking cars.

Puzzle In Potato Patch

Rex Leese, seven-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard M. Leese, 51 South Water Street, Frostburg, is shown here holding a potato vine on which there are several small clusters of what appear to be green tomatoes, about an inch each in diameter. "There they are and they certainly look like tomatoes," Rex told a News photographer, as he held one of the clusters in his hand. However, some experienced gardners in the area expressed the belief they might be seed pods of the variety of potato plant. Rex is a little too young to know much about it, but he isn't too young to boast that his daddy has a potato patch where he raises tomatoes and potatoes on the same plants.

The Weather

There was just a hint of the September about to come in the weekend weather. The downtown mercury hit a right low 60 degrees early yesterday morning, making blankets rather necessary. The minimum temperature was 57 degrees at Constitution Park. However, a cotton dress wasn't out of place yesterday afternoon when the maximum downtown temperature was 82 and the Constitution Park high was 80. The late night reading was 69 degrees. The Weather Man says today should be much like yesterday — sunny with highest temperatures in the high 70's and low 80's.

Korean Fighting Spurs Demand For Draft Cards

Applicants Must Appear In Person

Selective Service identification cards are in great demand, according to P. Emmett Fahey, clerk-coordinator of Local Boards 27, 28 and 29.

Fahey said at least 50 applications for duplicate registration and classification cards have been received here since the beginning of the Korean War.

All 18 year old men, he said, are required to have registration certificates in their possession and those 19 through 25 also must have classification cards.

If you have lost them, he said, there is only one way to secure duplicates.

Applicants must appear before a draft board and make affidavit that the document has been lost.

If you live in the town where your local board is located, he said, you should appear in person and make the necessary application.

If in another community, an applicant must appear before a draft board there and make the affidavit. That board will forward data to the original board, which will issue the card or cards.

Fahey said it is useless to write for such credentials since the law clearly states that applications must be made in person.

Recalled To Navy

Tom W. King, 411 South Cedar Street, Navy reservist, has been ordered to active duty by August 13, the Navy Recruiting station said. A ship's cook, first class, he is one of 20 local reservists who volunteered for active duty recently.

Plans Get Underway For Stamp To Mark 200th Anniversary Of Fort Cumberland

By C. W. BLACKBURN
News Staff Writer

Preliminary steps already have been taken here toward a formal request for the issuance of a stamp to commemorate the bicentennial of the founding of Fort Cumberland.

Growing interest in the philatelic project has prompted Miss Mary G. Walsh, librarian of the Cumberland Free Public Library, to inform Rep. J. Glenn Beall of the plans.

Rep. Beall has indicated his deep interest, Miss Walsh said, and has agreed to sponsor the request for the issuance of the adhesive marking the founding of the Western Maryland fort.

Miss Walsh points out that the spadework leading to the actual issuance of the stamp to honor one of the most important pioneer forts will be considered.

That is why work on the project is beginning now although the actual anniversary will not be celebrated until 1955.

Must Assemble Data

For one thing, there is a considerable amount of historical data to be assembled and evaluated prior to the formal request for the commemorative stamp.

Not the least of these is the selection of the actual date of issuance of the stamp.

Miss Walsh has written to the Library of Congress asking that a search be made of records to learn the exact date Fort Cumberland was completed.

One of the problems is that a fort existed here prior to the construction of Fort Cumberland.

It was following the abandonment of Fort Necessity on July 4, 1754, that Col. James Innes was dispatched to Wills Creek, arriving here September 1, 1754, to take command of the military post.

Col. Innes, according to Lowdermilk in "The History of Cumberland," immediately set about building fortifications on the hill between the Potomac River and Wills Creek.

First Fort Completed

Construction began September 12, 1754, with the assistance of troops left here by Col. George Washington following his return from Great Meadows.

The fort, completed about the middle of October, 1754, was named Fort Mount Pleasant.

No sooner was the stockade built than Col. Innes set his men at work building barracks for themselves. By Christmas, enough log houses had been erected to house the garrison.

Governor Sharpe, of Maryland, arrived here for an inspection of the fortifications that month and was quoted by Lowdermilk as saying:

"The fort they have prepared is exceedingly small, its exterior side not exceeding 120 feet. I conceived it . . . absolutely necessary that another much larger be raised on an adjacent and more elevated piece of ground which I have ordered the Maryland company to proceed on, and I hope that they will be able to finish through the winter. The eminence on which it will be situated gives it an entire command of that already completed."

Build Fort Cumberland

Shortly after the barracks at Fort Mt. Pleasant were completed, Gov. Dinwiddie received orders from the King to proceed at once with the erection of a fort at Wills Creek.

Gen. Braddock, who had been designated by the Duke of Cumberland as commander in chief of the new expedition against the French, requested Gov. Dinwiddie to have

D. John Markey Campaign To Be State-Wide Crusade

D. John Markey, Walkersville, Frederick County, who last week suddenly withdrew from the GOP gubernatorial contest to become one of three Republican candidates for the U. S. Senate, has issued a public statement outlining his position.

Markey, it is recalled, opposed Herbert R. O'Conor (D) in the Senate contest two years ago, and after a recount, was defeated by little more than a thousand votes.

In his statement he said,

"The political situation in Maryland has changed since I announced my candidacy for governor. It has changed radically since the Korean war and the exposure of communistic influence in the State Department.

"The citizens of Maryland, as of the nation, are disturbed and confused over our tragic situation in the Far East. They generally believe that it is the result of the actions and policies of the present and past Democratic administrations which have resulted in our being sold down the river in this part of the world. The action of the Democratic administration in protecting un-Americans in our State Department has angered and disturbed the citizens of the United States. It is therefore clear that the Number One objective of our Republican Party in Maryland in 1950 is the election of a Republican senator. This would result in the control of the United States Senate, taking into account the seven seats in other states which the party expects to win. Our party could then inaugurate positive programs that would prevent the furtherance of the present socialistic trend in our Federal Government by the Democratic administration.

"My campaign will be a crusade to eradicate from public life all persons, elected or appointed, who have been responsible for the sell-out to Stalin in Asia. I will appeal to the patriotism and conscience of Maryland voters to have Maryland play its necessary part in securing the control of the United States Senate from the Democratic Party.

"I hope to have by my side in this campaign the veterans, especially those of World War II, who were offering their lives on the battlefields of the world while traitors in the State Department, like Alger Hiss and Julian Wadleigh and others, were giving away our valuable secrets to the communists.

"I will, in my first campaign speech, reveal heretofore unknown facts about the communistic influence in the State Department with respect to Korea where hundreds of American soldiers are dying daily to help correct the errors and mistaken policies of our Democratic administration. This campaign in Maryland will be watched by the entire nation, as the control of the United States Senate will be the issue.

"I have had constant pressure on the national and state level to forego my interest in state issues and take on the hardest fight in this year's election. I have therefore decided to withdraw from the gubernatorial race and file my candidacy for the United States Senate. This action is taken without any deals or commitments of any character whatsoever.

"It is absolutely imperative that the citizens of this state join in this crusade for the protection of our American way of life and the future welfare of their sons and grandsons."

D. JOHN MARKEY

Pfc. Butler Is Badly Wounded In Korean War

Cresaptown Medic Served At Cumchon

Mrs. Lucy Helbig, Cresaptown, received a telegram yesterday from the Defense Department that her son, Pfc. Charles A. L. Butler, was seriously wounded in action in Korea.

The message said additional information would be received from the hospital within five days.

Pfc. Butler, 20, was graduated from Fort Hill High School in 1948 and immediately enlisted in the Army and was assigned to the Medical Corps.

He has served in Japan for almost two years and has been in Korea since July 18.

In a letter to his mother dated July 29, the Cresaptown soldier said he was stationed at Cumchon in an old school that had been converted into a field hospital.

He reported he and all the men in the unit were very tired and that the heat was so intense they could not stand much more of it.

His chief complaint, Mrs. Helbig said, was the lack of something cold to drink.

She quoted her GI son as saying when he got home he "wanted to live for a week on cold milk."

She added she read last Wednesday that the United States forces had abandoned the town of Cumchon, some 30 miles northwest of Taegu.

He is a son of Charles Butler, 39 Lamont Street.

City Asked To Honor First WW II Victim

The Mayor and City Council will be requested to give some consideration to naming a park, playground or street, or giving some other permanent recognition to the first Maryland man to die in World War II.

John V. Santelli, in a letter to the city fathers, calls attention to the fact that the first Marylander killed in World War II was Victor Tamboleo who resided near Cumberland.

The youth, according to Santelli, was killed December 7, 1941, at Pearl Harbor when the Japs struck their initial blow which put the United States into the war.

Santelli said President Franklin D. Roosevelt and Governor Herbert R. O'Conor wrote personal letters to Tamboleo's parents calling attention to the fact that their son was the first Marylander to die. This is the only recognition ever accorded the soldier or his family, Santelli explains, as he requests the Mayor and Council to perpetuate the name.

Waste Paper Drive

The weekly waste paper drive will be held today on all West Side streets. Bundles should be placed on the curb not later than 9 a.m.

Air Circus Spectators Get Extra Thrills

Hot-Air Balloon Falls On Stunter

The approximately 3,500 spectators at the Cumberland Air Show yesterday at the Municipal Airport received a few unscheduled thrills in addition to those provided by the air circus.

A high wind, only marring feature of yesterday's weather, caused the collapse of a large balloon and slight injuries to Eddie Allen, 55, one of the world's oldest active balloonists and parachute jumpers.

Lewis J. Ort, general chairman of the show, said the efforts of approximately 300 persons failed to keep the balloon on an even keel. It collapsed over Allen and the hot air mechanism with which it was being inflated.

Allen manager to put out the flames under the mechanism, suffering only burns on the hands, Ort added.

Plane Damaged

The specially-rigged stunt plane which replaced one wrecked in a crash Wednesday at the airport suffered damage during one of the acts, according to Ort.

The plane, piloted by Ben Huntley, one of the performers in Deaton's Air Circus, Charlotte, N. C., who presented the 12-act show, was engaged in a radio-control stunt when one of its wings slammed into the ground. Huntley managed to get the ship back into the air, however.

Spectators gasped when Don Edwards, human batman, went into a tailspin with his "wings" while making a 5,000-foot jump. Ort said the stunter had planned to drop to 500 feet before using his parachute, but the spin caused him to open the chute at 1,000 feet.

Three jet fighters from Andrews Field "buzzed" the field for about 15 minutes yesterday. Ort said they were the first Army planes to appear in an air show since the outbreak of hostilities in Korea.

Puzzle In Potato Patch

Rex Leese, seven-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Bernard M. Leese, 51 South Water Street, Frostburg, is shown here holding a potato vine on which there are several small clusters of what appear to be green tomatoes, about an inch each in diameter. "There they are and they certainly look like tomatoes," Rex told a News photographer, as he held one of the clusters in his hand. However, some experienced gardners in the area expressed the belief they might be seed pods of the variety of potato plant. Rex is a little too young to know much about it, but he isn't too young to boast that his daddy has a potato patch where he raises tomatoes and potatoes on the same plants.

The Weather

There was just a hint of the September about to come in the weekend weather. The downtown mercury hit a right low 60 degrees early yesterday morning, making blankets rather necessary. The minimum temperature was 57 degrees at Constitution Park. However, a cotton dress wasn't out of place yesterday afternoon when the maximum downtown temperature was 82 and the Constitution Park high was 80. The late night reading was 69 degrees. The Weather Man says today should be much like yesterday — sunny with highest temperatures in the high 70's and low 80's.

Korean Fighting Spurs Demand For Draft Cards

Applicants Must Appear In Person

Selective Service identification cards are in great demand, according to P. Emmett Fahey, clerk-coordinator of Local Boards 27, 28 and 29.

Fahey said at least 50 applications for duplicate registration and classification cards have been received here since the beginning of the Korean War.

All 18 year old men, he said, are required to have registration certificates in their possession and those 19 through 25 also must have classification cards.

If you have lost them, he said, there is only one way to secure duplicates.

Applicants must appear before a draft board and make affidavit that the document has been lost.

If you live in the town where your local board is located, he said, you should appear in person and make the necessary application.

If in another community, an applicant must appear before a draft board there and make the affidavit. That board will forward data to the original board, which will issue the card or cards.

Fahey said it is useless to write for such credentials since the law clearly states that applications must be made in person.

Recalled To Navy

Tom W. King, 411 South Cedar Street, Navy reservist, has been ordered to active duty by August 13, the Navy Recruiting station said. A ship's cook, first class, he is one of 20 local reservists who volunteered for active duty recently.

Plans Get Underway For Stamp To Mark 200th Anniversary Of Fort Cumberland

By C. W. BLACKBURN
News Staff Writer

Preliminary steps already have been taken here toward a formal request for the issuance of a stamp to commemorate the bicentennial of the founding of Fort Cumberland.

Growing interest in the philatelic project has prompted Miss Mary G. Walsh, librarian of the Cumberland Free Public Library, to inform Rep. J. Glenn Beall of the plans.

Rep. Beall has indicated his deep interest, Miss Walsh said, and has agreed to sponsor the request for the issuance of the adhesive marking the founding of the Western Maryland fort.

Miss Walsh points out that the spadework leading to the actual issuance of the stamp to honor one of the most important pioneer forts will be considered.

That is why work on the project is beginning now although the actual anniversary will not be celebrated until 1955.

Must Assemble Data

For one thing, there is a considerable amount of historical data to be assembled and evaluated prior to the formal request for the commemorative stamp.

Not the least of these is the selection of the actual date of issuance of the stamp.

Miss Walsh has written to the Library of Congress asking that a search be made of records to learn the exact date Fort Cumberland was completed.

One of the problems is that a fort existed here prior to the construction of Fort Cumberland.

It was following the abandonment of Fort Necessity on July 4, 1754, that Col. James Innes was dispatched to Wills Creek, arriving here September 1, 1754, to take command of the military post.

Col. Innes, according to Lowdermilk in "The History of Cumberland," immediately set about building fortifications on the hill between the Potomac River and Wills Creek.

First Fort Completed

Construction began September 12, 1754, with the assistance of troops left here by Col. George Washington following his return from Great Meadows.

The fort, completed about the middle of October, 1754, was named Fort Mount Pleasant.

No sooner was the stockade built than Col. Innes set his men at work building barracks for themselves. By Christmas, enough log houses had been erected to house the garrison.

Governor Sharpe, of Maryland, arrived here for an inspection of the fortifications that month and was quoted by Lowdermilk as saying:

"The fort they have prepared is exceedingly small, its exterior side not exceeding 120 feet. I conceived it . . . absolutely necessary that another much larger be raised on an adjacent and more elevated piece of ground which I have ordered the Maryland company to proceed on, and I hope that they will be able to finish through the winter. The eminence on which it will be situated gives it an entire command of that already completed."

Build Fort Cumberland

Shortly after the barracks at Fort Mt. Pleasant were completed, Gov. Dinwiddie received orders from the King to proceed at once with the erection of a fort at Wills Creek.

Gen. Braddock, who had been designated by the Duke of Cumberland as commander in chief of the new expedition against the French, requested Gov. Dinwiddle to have

D. John Markey Campaign To Be State-Wide Crusade

D. John Markey, Walkersville, Frederick County, who last week suddenly withdrew from the GOP gubernatorial contest to become one of three Republican candidates for the U. S. Senate, has issued a public statement outlining his position.

Markey, it is recalled, opposed Herbert R. O'Conor (D) in the Senate contest two years ago, and after a recount, was defeated by little more than a thousand votes.

In his statement he said,

"The political situation in Maryland has changed since I announced my candidacy for governor. It has changed radically since the Korean war and the exposure of communistic influence in the State Department.

"The citizens of Maryland, as of the nation, are disturbed and confused over our tragic situation in the Far East. They generally believe that it is the result of the actions and policies of the present and past Democratic administrations which have resulted in our being sold down the river in this part of the world. The action of the Democratic administration in protecting un-Americans in our State Department has angered and disturbed the citizens of the United States. It is therefore clear that the Number One objective of our Republican Party in Maryland in 1950 is the election of a Republican senator. This would result in the control of the United States Senate, taking into account the seven seats in other states which the party expects to win. Our party could then inaugurate positive programs that would prevent the furtherance of the present socialistic trend in our Federal Government by the Democratic administration.

"My campaign will be a crusade to eradicate from public life all persons, elected or appointed, who have been responsible for the sell-out to Stalin in Asia. I will appeal to the patriotism and conscience of Maryland voters to have Maryland play its necessary part in securing the control of the United States Senate from the Democratic Party.

"I hope to have by my side in this campaign the veterans, especially those of World War II, who were offering their lives on the battlefields of the world while traitors in the State Department, like Alger Hiss and Julian Wadleigh and others, were giving away our valuable secrets to the communists.

"I will, in my first campaign speech, reveal heretofore unknown facts about the communistic influence in the State Department with respect to Korea where hundreds of American soldiers are dying daily to help correct the errors and mistaken policies of our Democratic administration. This campaign in Maryland will be watched by the entire nation, as the control of the United States Senate will be the issue.

"I have had constant pressure on the national and state level to forego my interest in state issues and take on the hardest fight in this year's election. I have therefore decided to withdraw from the gubernatorial race and file my candidacy for the United States Senate. This action is taken without any deals or commitments of any character whatsoever.

"It is absolutely imperative that the citizens of this state join in this crusade for the protection of our American way of life and the future welfare of their sons and grandsons."

D. JOHN MARKEY

Pfc. Butler Is Badly Wounded In Korean War

Cresaptown Medic Served At Cumchon

Mrs. Lucy Helbig, Cresaptown, received a telegram yesterday from the Defense Department that her son, Pfc. Charles A. L. Butler, was seriously wounded in action in Korea.

The message said additional information would be received from the hospital within five days.

Pfc. Butler, 20, was graduated from Fort Hill High School in 1948 and immediately enlisted in the Army and was assigned to the Medical Corps.

He has served in Japan for almost two years and has been in Korea since July 18.

In a letter to his mother dated July 29, the Cresaptown soldier said he was stationed at Cumchon in an old school that had been converted into a field hospital.

He reported he and all the men in the unit were very tired and that the heat was so intense they could not stand much more of it.

His chief complaint, Mrs. Helbig said, was the lack of something cold to drink.

She quoted her GI son as saying when he got home he "wanted to live for a week on cold milk."

She added she read last Wednesday that the United States forces had abandoned the town of Cumchon, some 30 miles northwest of Taegu.

He is a son of Charles Butler, 39 Lamont Street.

City Asked To Honor First WW II Victim

The Mayor and City Council will be requested to give some consideration to naming a park, playground or street, or giving some other permanent recognition to the first Maryland man to die in World War II.

John V. Santelli, in a letter to the city fathers, calls attention to the fact that the first Marylander killed in World War II was Victor Tamboleo who resided near Cumberland.

The youth, according to Santelli, was killed December 7, 1941, at Pearl Harbor when the Japs struck their initial blow which put the United States into the war.

Santelli said President Franklin D. Roosevelt and Governor Herbert R. O'Conor wrote personal letters to Tamboleo's parents calling attention to the fact that their son was the first Marylander to die. This is the only recognition ever accorded the soldier or his family, Santelli explains, as he requests the Mayor and Council to perpetuate the name.

Waste Paper Drive

The weekly waste paper drive will be held today on all West Side streets. Bundles should be placed on the curb not later than 9 a.m.
